MAN WAS SENTENCED TO JAIL THREE DAYS OF TERRIFIC FIGHTING HAS TAKEN PLACE AT LULE BURGAS, IT IS REPORTED

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian army has completely defeated a Turkish force estimated at 200,000 men at Lule Burgas after three days terrific fighting, according to a news agency despatch from Sofia. The Bulgarian cavalry is pursuing the retreating Turks.

The Turkish army after the defeat at Lule Burgas retreated toward the Tchatalja. Adrianople is completely hemmed in by the Bulgarian troops.

SERIES OF DETERMINED FIGHTS BETWEEN BULGARIANS AND THE TURKS

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The wings of the Turkish and Bulgarian armies which roughly occupy lines stretching from Lule Burgas to Viza have been engaged for the past three days in a series of determined fights. The Bulgarians claim to have defeated the Turks at the Lule Burgas end while the Turks assert that the Bulgarians have been driven back around Viza. On the fighting in the center no authoritative report has yet been made. The Bulgarians are staking everything on the result of this great battle.

They have brought up all their available regulars to the front, leaving the investment of the fortress of Adrianople which is now completely hemmed in to their reserves, some of whom have taken the field in civilian clothing.

The Turkish commanders, too, appear to have brought to Europe all the troops it was possible to withdraw from Asia Minor, as it is now announced that regular traffic on the Anatolian railways has been partially resumed.

Some of the Turkish troops from Asia Minor are being landed at the Bulgarian port of Burgas on the Black sea, doubtless with the hope of driving in that direction part of the Bulgarian troops engaged further south.

The report that Bulgarian cavalry had gone to the port of Rodosto on the sea of Marmora is considered in military circles to be quite natural.

The Greeks, too, appear to be spreading out their lines. They have occupied Grevena on the western road leading to Monastir. Grave fears are expressed in regard to the Christian population of Constantinople, Saloniki and other Turkish ports where the news of Turkish defeats is being circulated in spite of the censorship and official denials. Great Britain has already ordered a warship to proceed to Saloniki for the protection of British lives and property there and the action of the other powers in the matter is under consideration.

He Was Accused of Larceny of Money From Woman and Also of Drunkenness

John McIntyre was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on complaints charging him with drunkenness and the larceny of $45 from Della Cosgrove. He entered a plea of not guilty. The drunkenness case was taken up first after which the testimony in the case of larceny was heard.

Della Cosgrove, of 73 Lawrence street, said she knew McIntyre and had worked with him at hotels and resorts in New Hampshire. Continuing witness said: McIntyre called at the house in Lawrence street between 3 or 4 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 15 and wanted a room for the night. I got him $5. He went out and said he would return in an hour, but when he came back he was drunk. That night he came back to the house and got a room. Saturday morning he and I went to visit my aunt at 19 Lamb street. When I entered the house I got my bag containing $47 on a chair in the parlor. He occupied another chair in the same room. I had occasion to go to the kitchen and was absent for about ten minutes. Later he said he was going away and would return in about two and a half hours. I asked him to wait for dinner, but he refused and left the house. When I was ready to go I opened the bag and found that $45 had been taken.

On cross-examination the witness said McIntyre told her he had money in the bank at Plymouth, N. H., and that a Mr. Cervais had his bank book and he would get all the money he wanted by writing to Mr. Cervais.

Mrs. P. R. Lynch of 19 Lamb street, an aunt of the preceding witness, told about McIntyre and Miss Cosgrove calling at her house on the 19th of the month.

John McIntyre, the defendant, testified to calling at Miss Cosgrove's house early on the morning of the 15th of October. The following morning he and Miss Cosgrove went to Mrs. Lynch's in Lamb street. He denied that he had knowledge of any money he got in Miss Cosgrove's bag. He said he had $136.62 in a bank in Plymouth. After leaving Lamb street he took a train to Plymouth and drew his money out of the bank. A week ago Tuesday he boarded a train for Lowell. When the train reached Concord he got thirsty and got out of the train and had several drinks. While waiting for a train to Lowell he met a chauffeur and paid him $15 for driving him to Lowell.

Upon reaching Lowell he stopped two nights at a local hotel and on several occasions went into the bar and "treated" the house. He said he had been drinking heavily for about a week after coming to Lowell on the first occasion.

After counsel had made arguments and the court considered the evidence he found McIntyre guilty on both counts and sentenced him to three months in jail for larceny, the case of drunkenness being placed on file. McIntyre appealed and was held under $300 bonds.

Arrested on Serious Charge

Arthur Bashaw and Annie Fager were arrested in a lodging house in Middlesex street about 12:15 o'clock this morning by Lieut. Freeman and Patrolman Sheridan and this morning were charged with larceny. They entered pleas of guilty, after which each was ordered to pay a fine of $15.

Drunken Offenders

George J. Keefe, who was released from jail the day before yesterday, after serving three months for the illegal sale of liquor, was in police court this morning, charged with drunkenness. After pleading guilty, he was sentenced to three months in jail, but later appealed.

Patrick J. McCarthy was under a suspended sentence to the state farm, and when he was charged with drunkenness this morning the suspension was revoked and he was given a direct sentence.

One simple drunk was released.

Case Continued

The case of Lawrence Perry, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, in three counts, which was scheduled for trial this morning, was continued until tomorrow morning.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME IN UTICA LAST EVENING

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—After a long illness Vice President James Schoolcraft Sherman died at his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock last night of uraemic poisoning, caused by Bright's disease.

He had been sinking ever since early morning and it was realized that death was a question of only a few hours. There was slight relief shortly after 7 o'clock by an apparent improvement in the condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove real or lasting, and at best gave only temporary hope.

At 9 o'clock the temperature rose to 106. From that time the condition rapidly passed from bad to worse until the end. He was unconscious when the end came and had been in that condition for hours with but slight change.

All the members of the immediate family were witnesses of the final scene. In addition to Mrs. Sherman, there were their three sons, Sherill, Richard U. and Thomas M. Sherman, and their respective wives, R. W. and Sanford Sherman, brothers of Mr. Sherman, and Mrs. L. B. Moore and Mrs. H. J. Cookingham, sisters of Mr. Sherman.

Soon after Mr. Sherman's death Dr. Fayette H. Peck, the attending physician, issued the following statement:

"The vice president died at 9:42 p. m. without regaining consciousness for a moment. He had been entirely unconscious since 7 o'clock, when he had a period of partial consciousness lasting for about 15 minutes. He died."

PROSECUTION IN ETTOR CASE Had Only Few More Witnesses to Place on Stand Today —Plans of Defense

SALEM, Oct. 31.—When the Ettor-Giovanitti and Caruso murder trial resumed today, District Attorney Attwell planned to bring the commonwealth's side of the case to a close, following testimony of a few more witnesses.

Attorneys for the defense with A. Scott Peters, J. P. Mahoney and J. P. Plisk were in conference early in the day planning their side of the case. It was expected that they would make a motion when the commonwealth rests to have the case taken from the jury and ask to be heard in support of the motion. It is their contention that there has been insufficient evidence to hold any of the defendants for the killing of Anna Lopizzo, who was shot in a disturbance during the Lawrence textile strike.

Held a Smoke Talk

A largely attended smoke talk was held last night in the rooms of the Citizens-Americans club in Dutton street. The affair was under the auspices of the club and was attended by about 150 people. There were speeches, songs and recitations, and refreshments were served.

The assembly was presided over by President Maxine Lapine and among the speakers were Xavier Delisle, Representatives Henri Achin and Victor Jewett and ex-Councilman Adolphe Bernard. A very pleasant evening was spent and it was late when the party broke up.

The Sarah Parker will case which was started in probate court at the last contested session, was resumed this morning at a special session of the court held at the court house before Judge Lawton. Several witnesses were heard, among them being Dr. B. H. Benner and Mrs. Ethel G. Shay. The latter testified she lived with her aunt, Sarah Parker for about 13 years, or until 23 years ago. She said when her aunt left her home she came to live with her, Mrs. Shay, and remained at her home for three weeks. She said deceased was very forgetful, but denied ever having any trouble with her. The will of the late Sarah Parker has been presented several times for probate and every time it has been contested.

Ex-President Was Cheered for Forty-two Minutes at Madison Square Garden

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. JOHN YERGEN, Oct. 31. A crowd that filled Madison Square Garden from the roof to the floor gathered through the night to hear a candidate for president. The speaker, who represented the leaders of the progressive party, was not in the mass meeting; he appeared in the public appearance of Theodore Roosevelt since the attack made by the "New York Herald" and the "Boston Herald" on William Walden, candidate for vice-president, and Oscar S. Straus, candidate for governor of New York speaking to the immense crowd before Col. Roosevelt reached the hall, paved the way for a great demonstration for the former president.

Col. Roosevelt reached the hall at 9.15, while Governor Johnson was still speaking. His presence through the street was marked with cheers that

The nestures for the crowd to be seated intensified the noise. The speaker upon standing in his effort to bring the crowd to order, said:

Sen. of Bandanaga.

A row of bandanas and yells greeted the audience as they appeared upon the platform and it was 8.20 o'clock, before Senator Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the national committee, could secure order to present Mr. Strauss as the first speaker.

Mr. Strauss spoke but a few minutes, he declared Roosevelt when he appointed him secretary of commerce and in favor of humanity."

The crowd, which had begun to fill the garden as soon as the doors were opened, at 6 o'clock, was entertained for nearly two hours with moving pictures of the Roosevelt western tour.

There greeted every appearance of Colonel Roosevelt in the film the emotions of the crowd, and the audience cheering swelled to such proportions when the speaker appeared on the platform that the intervention of the band was necessary to enable Governor Johnson and Mr. Straus to begin their speech.

Senator Dixon, introducing the candidate for governor of New York, declared the majority of the states of the middle west and northwest would return "old-time Roosevelt victories on election day."

Col. Roosevelt spoke in part as follows:

Chance for Rights
 "Friends, perhaps once in a generation, not more often, there comes a chance for the people of a country to play their part wisely and fearlessly in some great battle of the age-long warfare for human rights. To our fathers the chance came in the mighty days of Abraham Lincoln, the man who brought and tolled and suffered for the people with sad, patient and kindly endeavor. To our fathers the chance came in the troubled years that stretched from the time when the first continental congress gathered to the time when Washington was inaugurated as first president of the republic. To us in turn the chance has now come to stand for justice and righteousness, as in their day these dead men stood for liberty and righteousness.

To Profit by Losses

"Our task is not as great as theirs. Yet it is no light as important. Our task is to profit by the lessons of the past and to check in time the evils that grow around us; lest our failure to do so may cause dreadful disaster to the people. We must not let slip and be helpless. We must not permit the brutal selfishness of arrogance and the brutal selfishness of envy each to run unchecked its evil course. If we do so, then some day smoldering hatred will suddenly kindle into a consuming flame and either we or our children will be called on to face a crisis as grim as that which this republic has ever seen."

"It is our burden and our danger. The truth of wisdom consists in being swift in time. Woe to our nation if we let matters drift; if in our industrial and political life we let an unchecked and utterly selfish individualistic materialism to its appointed end. That end would be the utter disaster of our nation. It would mean that our people would be sundared by those dreadful lines of division which are drawn when the selfish greed of the haves is set over against the selfish greed of the have-nots. There is but one way to prevent such a disaster. It is to check it in time by the kind of a movement in which we are now engaged."

Rights and Duties

"Our movement is one of resolute insistence upon the rights, and full acknowledgment of the duties, of every man and every woman within this great land of ours. We war against the forces of evil, and the weapons we use are the weapons of right.. We do not set greed against greed or hatred against hatred. Our creed is one that bids us be just to all; to feel sympathy for all and to strive for an understanding of the needs of all. Our purpose is to smite down all that is toward these ends. We are not in the least the kindest charity that is compatible with causing the wrong to cease. We reach hatred to no man, and the spirit in which we work is as far removed from vindictiveness as from weakness. We are resolute to do away with the evil, and we intend to proceed with such wise and cautious sanity as will cause the very minimum of disturbance to the world while achieving our purpose.

To Better Character
 "Do not forget, friends, that we are not proposing to substitute law for character. We are merely proposing to buttress character by law. We fully recognize that, as has been true in the past, so it is true now, and ever will be true, that the prime factor in each man or woman's own character—character as the sum of many qualities, but above all of the qualities of honesty, of courage and of common sense. Nothing will avail a nation if there is not the right type of character among the average men and women, the plain people, the hard working, decent living, right thinking people who make up the great bulk of our citizenry."

Character Counts Most

"I know my countrymen; I know that they are of this type. But it is in civil life as it is in war. In war it is the man behind the gun that counts most, and yet he cannot do his work unless he has the right kind of gun. In civil life, in the carrying on of our nation, it is individual character which counts most; and yet the individual character cannot avail unless in addition thereto there lie ready to hand the social weapons which can be forged only by law and by public opinion operating through and operated upon by law.

"Again, friends, do not forget that we are proposing new principles. The doctrine we preach reach back to the Golden Rule.

"He
the
He"

the Mount. They reach back to the commandments delivered at Sinai. All that we are doing is to apply those doctrines in the shape necessary to make them available for meeting the living issues of our own day. We decline to be haunted by the empty little cat-and-dried formulas of bygone philosophies, useful once perhaps, but useless now. Our purpose is to shackle greedily cunning as we shackle brutal from this purpose by the appeal to the dead dogmas of a past age.

"We propose to lift the burden from the lowly and the weary, from the poor and the oppressed. We propose to stand for the sacred rights of childhood and womanhood. Nay, more, we propose to see that manhood is not crushed out of the men who toil by excessive hours of labor, by under-payment, by injustice and oppression. When this purpose can only be secured by the collective action of our people through their governmental agencies, we propose not to secure it, but brush aside the arguments of those who seek to bar action by the repetition of some formula about 'State's rights' or about the 'history of liberty' being 'the history of the limitation of governmental power' or about the duty

"We are for human rights, and we intend to work for them in efficient fashion. Where they can be best obtained by the application of the principles of states' rights, then we are for states' rights. Where, in order to obtain them, it is necessary to invoke the power of the nation, then we shall invoke to its uttermost limits that mighty power. We are for liberty, and we are for the liberty of the oppressed and not for the liberty of the oppressor to oppress the weak and to bind burdens on the shoulders of the heavy laden. It is idle to ask us not to exercise the power of the government, when only by the power of the government can we curb the greed

Basic Not Formulas

"We care for facts and not for formulas. We care for deeds and not for words. We recognize no sacred right of oppression. We recognize no right to work injustice. We stand for the constitution. We recognize that one of its most useful functions is the protection of property. But we will not consent to make of the constitution a trammel for the protection of fossilized wrong. We call the attention of those who thus interpret it to the fact that that great instrument of Justice and Liberty are put on a full level with property, indeed are enumerated ahead of it in the order of their importance. We stand for an upright judiciary, and that where the laws claim the right to make our laws by finally interpreting them, by finally deciding whether or not we have the power to make laws, then we claim the right ourselves to exercise that power. We favor no greater wealth than their official position may justify. We favor no right which is ours, the right which is of the people. We recognize in neither our nor congress nor president any right to override the will of the people expressed with due deliberation in the free fashion and through the orders of law."

Rights and Wrongs on Both Sides in the Balkans Are Very Difficult Questions for One to Determine

It is well to promise before speaking of the rights and wrongs of the situation that has set the Balkan countries afire that no one on earth can tell definitely where the blame lies. Foreigners who have lived for decades close to the scene of the conflict profess their inability to apportion the blame for the misery that pervades the countries subject to Ottoman rule.

Ask an Ottoman in Turkey and he will tell you with much wagging of the head and eloquent gestures of disapproval that the Turkish empire is a land of peace and plenty, of abundant supplies of food and of abundant supplies of money. He will speak of the peace and plenty of the Ottoman empire, to say at least the peace and plenty of the Constantinople government.

Turn to an Albanian, a Greek, a Macedonian or a Serb. There is no fault to the tales of horrors perpetrated on Christian men, women and children by their Turkish rulers. In definite, unambiguous terms it is asserted with evidential detail that the life of no man or child, the honor of no woman or the life of no child, the property of no one is safe in the hands of the Turks. The world has heard much of the slaughter of Armenians that was for the sultan the ghastliest life of "the great assassin." Macedonians have suffered fully as much in their co-religionists of Asia Minor. "Where the foot of the sultan's horse once treads the grass never grows again," is a common saying among Christian subjects of the sultan, and their educated men are fond of quoting Victor Hugo's statement, "The Turks have passed there; all is ruin and sorrow."

If nothing is ever settled until it is settled right, the question of the Christians residing in the Turkish empire will never be quieted until a definite line of segregation is drawn between the Mohammedan and Christian elements of the population. Among Turkey's 16,000,000 inhabitants there are 5,000,000 Christians.

In some parts of the empire, notably in Macedonia and the territories contiguous to the Christian kingdoms of Serbia, Montenegro, Bulgaria and Greece, the latter have assembled in communities of refuge with some non-Christian neighbors. But in other sections and in the large cities the two religions are mixed inextricably, and there is constant strife and bickering. In the words of a recent writer, "The empire is seething with racial strife. It is too much to hope that the proud, fanatical Turk and the Albanians, for example, 'united, barefoot, but fiery as hornets' will ever agree. Should the present imbroglio or the subsequent upheaval that is bound to come some day result in the overthrow of the Ottoman authority, careful observers say that segregation, following wholesale migration within the empire, will be the only solution of the great problem of all the mixture of races within the Ottoman empire—Osmanni, Turks, Greeks, Albanians, Serbs, Bulgars, Roumanians, Armenians, Magyars, Assyrians and Circassians, divided among Mohammedans, Roman Catholics, Protestants, Jews, Greek Catholics, Armenians, and members of the Armenian, Bulgarian and Greek Latin churches—It is probable that the Albanians have the most trouble to the authorities by these. They are not all Christians by any means. Rather more than half of them are nominally at least Moslems. But they are all fighters and haters of the Mohammedan race in their country, which lies in the western and northern parts of the empire. Even the western parts of the empire, where the Mohammedans look upon their co-religionists with the eyes of racial hatred and are so lax in their observance of their religious obligations that the stricter Mohammedans regard them as heretics.

The Albanians are descendants of the ancient Pelasgians and, therefore, first cousins to the ancient Greeks. They gave to the world Alexander the Great, and under Pyrrhus, king of Epirus, shook Rome to her foundations. Conquered by Roman legions, however, the Albanians survived in their primitive bloodthirstiness and gallantry. In the time when the Hungarians invaded the Balkans, they made common cause with the Sultan Murad in the great war of extermination against the Serbs. But when the Turks wanted to exterminate them they found a task much harder to crack than they had expected.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Democrats Should Stand By Their Party

A council of war was held at republican headquarters on Tuesday night.

Ex-Senator Hubbard has been honored with the position of chairman of the republican rally committee. "Joe's" original intention was to be honored with the republican congressional nomination. But the interests wanted Rogers and "Joe" was side-tracked.

Some Oratory

The Boston papers tell us that Dan Cosgrove cut his speech short to give way to Hon. Bourke Cockran at the progressive rally Tuesday evening. There must have been some speech-making with such orators as Dan and Bourke spouting from the same platform.

Can anyone recall the name of the republican candidate for governor this year?

Mr. Rogers' reference in the press to Mr. O'Sullivan's "underground cellar" in the associate building is good, and reminds us of the candidate, for the common council who once advocated overland sewage. "There's nothing like an education."

David I. Walsh made an excellent impression at the recent rally. He should be elected and every democrat would place a cross against his name.

The first election but of note recorded was one of $100 to $50 on O'Sullivan placed by an enthusiastic supporter of the democratic candidate.

Ward Five

Democratic voters of wards five and nine have the first real opportunity in the history of the "abominable district" to elect a democratic senator. Rep. Fisher has twice carried a republican representative district, all of which is now included in his senatorial district and it is a good bet that he will carry ward nine. Under ordinary circumstances he would come close to defeating any republican candidate that might be lined up against him. This year with a strong progressive candidate in the field it looks easy for him, with the usual proviso, however, that the democrats stay with him to a man.

19th Representative District

The friends of Representative Thomas S. Coffey are exerting themselves more than ever since it became known that North Billerica will be a democratic district. Coffey has no fear of a record in the legislature to be defeated at this time. The town of Tewksbury, regardless of party affiliation, owes him a lasting debt of gratitude for his repeated and finally successful efforts in the town's financial behalf, and should roll up a big vote for him.

Congress

Humphrey O'Sullivan, the democratic candidate for congress personally worked hard for a long time in the "underground cellar" of the associate building, referred to by John Jacob Rogers in a political advertisement, while perfecting his invention, the rubber heel. It was read enough for Mr. O'Sullivan himself to work in undoubtedly there was no fault-finding upon the part of the employees who also worked there. Speaking of the employees of the "underground cellar," Mr. Rogers states that they were paid from "three to five dollars" per week, which was very good pay for boys of 15 and 16 years of age who had nice easy work and plenty of leisure time. "These 'underground cellar' workers so-called, were far better off both financially and on health and sanitary grounds than the boys who were and are employed in the mills for which Mr. Rogers is one of the attorneys.

Prohibition Party

The prohibition party is to be heard from at city hall steps tomorrow afternoon about 5 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Craig is the local sponsor thereof.

Three reasons why Lowell should give Gov. Ross a handsome vote: Adjutant General Pearson, Judge Pratt, Judge Enright.

County Commissioners

Who is it that the old expression says takes care of his own? The county commissioners have entered the representative contest in the 14th district and have emissaries out hustling for the re-election of Rep. Butler, who voted to raise their salaries, notwithstanding that they turned down his constituents on the matter of the state highway through ward one and Dracut.

Ames is Not Running

Those democrats who in the past felt under obligations to vote for Butler Ames for congress are now relieved of their obligation by the retirement of the colonel from public life and are under no obligations to vote for either Rogers or Osgood.

The democrats of the 17th district are again reminded that they have an excellent opportunity to elect Messrs. Jordan and Whitely.

For Senator

Henry Draper, democratic candidate for senator in the eighth district, is covering every nook and corner of his district and is making a fine impression. It looks as if Henry will cross the most while Barlow will be held up by the Drawbridge.

The Prohibition Campaign Auto with Frank N. Rand, candidate for governor, assisted by William O. Wylie, national grand secretary, I. O. G. T., Daniel A. Mackay, of Boston; A. J. Oram, of Sharon; Solon W. Bingham, of Boston; and Carlo E. Berwick, campaign singer, will be at city hall between 12:30 and 1:30 p. m. Friday, Nov. 1.

Clark M. Langley, 33 Fremont street.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
"L'Abbe Constantine." This is the play that was presented by P. Paul Marcel and his troupe of artists at the Opera House last night. The attendance was exceptionally large and the standing room was almost at a premium. The play, which is a three-act comedy drama from the pen of Ludovic Halévy was presented in a very satisfactory manner, each part being sustained in an artistic way. The performance greatly pleased the large audience which showed its appreciation with frequent and prolonged applause.

The cast of the company is the same as it was a couple of months ago when the same people played "L'Amour Vainqueur" in this city, which means that Marcel and his associates are as good as can be found on this side of the continent.

Miss Marguerite Zesara entertained her audience with several vocal selections and had to respond to many encores. She is possessed of a fine soprano voice and her singing is magnificent. The management of the company announced last night that the troupe would return to Lowell within a short time. The general manager of the company is a Lowell boy, and he has received many congratulations from his many local friends.

"THE WALL STREET GIRL"
Blanche Ring is a great belle in pretty girls. In "The Wall Street Girl" in which she will play at the Opera House Nov. 5th, she will have the prize chorus of the season. The critics all over the country commended her for her good looks and good voices. Of the Ring girls and this high standard has been maintained again this season.

ABORN OPERA COMPANY
In addition to the favorites of the Aborn English Grand Opera company's double cast of last season, several noted artists have been added, greatly increasing the power and importance of the array of principals, while the chorus and orchestra have also been increased. The entire organization now numbering one hundred persons, while four carloads of scenery, costumes and effects are carried, the list of principal artists include: Dianella Alvin, Aida Hemmi, Henry Taylor, Elaine De Sellem, Henri Baron, Louis T. Angelo, Francis Helen Campbell, Tyler Bernard, Cantor and others, with Arturo Pappalardo as conductor and the celebrated stage director, This organization comes to the Opera House November 5th, presenting "Madame Butterfly."

"A BUTTERFLY ON THE WHEEL"
After its long engagement at the thirty-ninth street theatre, "A Butterfly on the Wheel" will be presented at the Opera House Saturday, Nov. 5th, by Lewis Waller who sends here an all-English company.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE"
Henry W. Savage's Scotch opera, "Little Boy Blue," which will be at the Opera House Nov. 12, had a run of six months at the Lyric theatre, New York, last season.

"PRECKLES"
Gene Stratton-Porter, the author of the story and songs, Doubleday, Page & Co., the publishers, have expressed themselves as very much pleased with Neil Towney's dramatization of the novel "Preckles," which comes to the Opera House soon.

The Playhouse
The Drama Players are scoring a decided hit at The Playhouse (formerly Hathaway theatre) this week in their presentation of Paul Armstrong's great drama, "Alias Jimmy Valentine." Every performance, both afternoon and evening, has been witnessed by audiences that have taxed the capacity of the theatre, and the word of the members of the cast has been most cordially received. The stage effects, put on by Kendra Wallace, which are the best of high-class plays. Next week The Drama Players will be seen in "The Girl in the Red Velvet Gown," which they have already won.

ected with this week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre is the offering of Varrington. He is billed as vaudeville's greatest pianist and is everything the billing implies. He is an accomplished musician, and his offering is a really delightful number. The Merry-makers who are appearing in the Merrimack Square theatre, in Lowell, are also another good act. They are bright and possesses much that pleases. Kennedy and Heath and Harry Corley are the other acts. Four reels of excellent pictures, including the latest Pathe, complete an exceptionally good bill.

Keith's Theatre
The golden brown hair of Ma-Belle, the English mistress of the ballet, at Keith's theatre, this week, is over four feet in length. It was recently insured by the firm of Lloyd, in London. Rubie Dickenson, Illinois, Columbia, a fund of good stories, is a firm favorite with audiences, and Mills and Moulton in a variety have pleased exceedingly. The whole bill is one filled with gaiety and music.

Theatre Voyons
Today the Theatre Voyons shows "Sunshine," an Essay subject that for real interest has not been equalled in months. Another feature is the great fire on the New York docks, being several big explosions of gasoline which was stored on the pier.

Academy of Music
Possibly the boys at the Academy are not "novelty schemers" and perhaps they are, but the new one—"Kiss Night"—will positively be the original risk of the night. The regular show includes moving pictures of the flag demonstration in Cuba, which is a bus day. Marie Horton in a new sketch, two other acts of vaudeville, and more reels of pictures, and Ross McDougall in illustrated songs.

The Kasino
One of the most spacious halls in this state will be thrown open for roller skating on Monday next week, when the Kasino commences skating. In favor of the most popular winter sport known. The Kasino floor was built specially for roller skating, every board being laid with the idea of "going with the skater." Under this arrangement, it is impossible to skate "across the board," there are no corners. Smooth skating is, therefore, assured at all times. As to the character of patronage, it is to be said that the same high standard set by the skating for dancing, will be set and maintained for roller skating. Every courtesy will be extended to men, women and children. Skating is, therefore, actively be forbidden. Anything suggestive of coarseness will be discontinued. Under the personal direction of Charles E. Bunker, a man of wide experience in conducting such enterprises, Kasino patrons are assured the very best.

I HAVE TWO WORK HORSES, ONE weighs 1200 one 1150; one driving horse, sell for $45; the 1200 horse is 6 years old and sound, work single or double, and is a good steady worker, goes all sound, 10 years old, sell for $50; must dispose of them at once. Call Morse's Farm, North Woburn, near car barn.

MUNICIPAL PRIMARIES
Will be Held on the 19th of November

A special meeting of the municipal council was held at 10 o'clock this forenoon to take action upon the calling of meetings of voters for the preliminary elections, Nov. 19. This is in accordance with the new charter, which provides that such meetings shall be held called 24 days before the holding of the elections. In speaking of the great session, Mayor Edmunds said that he would prefer to have the matter go over to the next meeting and Mr. Brown did not object. It was Mr. Brown's original intention to introduce two $50,000 orders, one to refund the general treasury fund to that extent and the other to appropriate that amount from the general treasury for street improvements. It was a sort of give and take proposition and was abandoned. It was stated, however, it was irregular. Upon motion and that the two order proposition could not run the long gamut, Mr. Brown withdrew the matter and the matter was dropped.

Alphonso Brown was desirous of having a $50,000 loan order introduced. He said the city solicitor was drafting it and it would be ready for the council in a very few minutes. A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE
Is Suing His Third Wife for Divorce

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Frederick A. Chubb, who claims to be an Indian fighter, Spanish war veteran and soldier of fortune, came into the Suffolk divorce court yesterday to determine if he could bring action in Boston against his third wife, when he had sent about an equal part of his time in many parts of the world, but always in his life of wandering had claimed Boston as his residence.

Although Chubb has voted in Massachusetts, Maine and New York, he had been the chief of the staff of detectives of President Estrada Cabrera of Guatemala, held a government position on the Panama railroad and has lived at about equal periods in almost every state in the Union and Central America. He has always been a Bostonian, according to his testimony. He married his present wife in Minnesota, his second in California and his first in Ohio. He lived with his present wife just nine hours before he was started on his wanderings. Judge Hardy ruled he could bring the action for divorce here.

He now lives at Athol.

In summing up the attorney for Mrs. Chubb charged that Chubb could not claim Massachusetts as his residence. Lowell yesterday afternoon and conferred with the school board and the superintendent of schools on matters concerning the state's relation to the Bartlett school.

The attorney for Chubb claimed that there was no evidence of residence. "This man has wandered all his life," said he, "but in all the places he has been he has always claimed Boston as his residence."

Judge Hardy ruled that as Chubb and his wife had lived here 28 years and as he was married in Minnesota he should try his divorce there.

Presses Charges Against the Police

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 31.—Governor Bass and council were engaged yesterday in hearing the charges brought against the Manchester police commissioner and Chief Healey by the Manchester Free Speech alliance.

The trouble grew out of the military strike in Lawrence last winter and the efforts of the I. W. W. to gain a foothold in Manchester, which were prevented by the illegal action of the object in suppressing meetings.

According to the complaint, a meeting at which William D. Haywood and Miss Pearl McGill were to speak had been planned to take place in Polish hall. When the procession reached the hall it found the entrance guarded by officers and nobody was allowed to en-

STUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Child Was Killed Near Her Home

WORCESTER, Oct. 31.—While observing Halloween in a childish way near her home last night, Annie Burke, 6 years old, daughter of William A. Burke of a Lexington street, was killed by an automobile owned and operated by Chester W. Doren, a paravibrator.

The little girl had just left some of her playmates to return home when the accident happened. With her head partially covered with a large cartoon, in which a hole had been made to look through, it is believed that her view of the street was partially obstructed and that she stepped in front of the automobile, which was said to have been traveling slowly at the time of the accident.

POLICE AFTER BOYS

Who Are Breaking Glass in Alarm Boxes

The breaking of glass in fire alarm boxes (through the city by mischievous boys) has become so prevalent of late that Chief Hosmer has asked the police to assist in the detection and conviction of the offenders. Supt. Welch has taken the matter up and intends to make an example of any person caught tampering with a fire alarm box.

It has become a habit for some boys on returning from school to see "who is the best shot" and aim stones at the glass on the little box which contains the key.

The glasses in box 68, corner of Sixth and Fremont streets; box 164, corner of Third and Vernon streets; and box 256, at the corner of B and Puffer streets, have been smashed on several occasions during the past week and last night the key was inserted in box 256 and the door opened.

UNITED STATES

Is Rapidly Becoming the Educational Center of the World, Says Professor Tombo

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The United States is rapidly becoming the educational center of the world, if statistics prepared by Prof. Rudolph Tombo of Columbia university are correct. Dr. Tombo selected 21 of the leading universities of Germany and a like number from America to make his comparison.

In total registration Dr. Tombo showed that the American universities have an enrollment of 75,000 against 55,000 in the German institutions. The foreign students in Germany number 4,500 and in the United States 1,500. American colleges are gaining every year, however. The largest foreign delegation in America is found at Columbia, with Pennsylvania, Harvard and Cornell following in the order named.

THE EIGHT HOUR LAW THREATENED LAWYER

Mayor Sends Letter to Labor Council

The following letter from Mayor O'Donnell to the secretary of the trades and labor council relative to the status of the eight-hour day clause in all city contracts which may involve the employment of labor, and the opinion of the city solicitor in the matter, are of great general interest and are self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., October 31, 1912.

Mr. Charles S. Anderson,
Trades and Labor Council, City.

Dear Mr. Anderson:—

As a result of the conference recently held with your committee relative to the eight-hour law, I have taken the matter up with the city solicitor, and today have received from him an opinion on the matter, a copy of which you will find enclosed.

The opinion points out quite clearly the method of procedure necessary before the law can become operative in this city. As the city election is over one month away you will have ample time to present the necessary petition and get the question on the ballot if your committee attends to the matter at once.

If there is any further assistance that I can render you, consider me at your command.

Respectfully,
James E. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of the City of Lowell.

My Dear Sir:—Concerning the legal status of the eight-hour day clause, as a stipulation to be incorporated in all contracts, except contracts for the purchase of material and supplies, to which the city is a party, which may involve the employment of labor, stating that "no laborers, workmen or mechanics, working within this commonwealth, in the employ of a contractor of sub-contractor or other persons doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract, shall be required to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, and any contract that does not contain this stipulation shall be null and void."

The city solicitor is of the opinion that since the city of Lowell has never adopted the provision of law, in conformity to the requirements of the act, signed by one hundred or more registered voters of a city or town, it is therefore, that in order to enjoy the privileges of the act, that the city of Lowell should strictly adhere to the statute providing for the proper acceptance thereof, and, in order to so accept such provision, it is necessary to conform to the direction laid down in section 42 of chapter 514 of the Acts of 1909, the language of which is as follows:

"In a city or town which, by a vote taken by ballot, at an annual election, accepts the provisions of this section, or, subsequently to the twenty-eighth day of June in the year nineteen hundred and seven, accepted the provisions of the section twenty of chapter one hundred and six of the Revised Laws, eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics who are employed by such city or town. If a petition for such vote, signed by one hundred or more registered voters of a city or town, is filed with the city or town clerk, respectively, thirty days or more before an annual election such vote shall be taken at such election."

Therefore, it would seem clear that, at once, petition should be filed, pursuant to such act, in order that it may be passed upon at the coming city election, which is an annual election.

Respectfully,
J. Joseph Hennessy,
City Solicitor.

The members of the American Glue club are arranging for their annual social and dance, which will be held in Associate hall in the near future.

Man Was Placed in the Prisoner's Docket

WORCESTER, Oct. 31.—The arrest of a witness in the courtroom was made here yesterday for the first time in several years. Frank Field of Fitchburg was a government witness in superior criminal court, against John E. Willard of Leominster, who was charged with illegal liquor selling.

When Field took the stand, his talk was rambling. Judge John B. Ratigan warned him to be careful in his speech. Just before leaving the stand Field said to Attorney Thomas L. Walsh of Fitchburg, "I'll get you in Fitchburg some time." Judge Ratigan ordered Field under arrest and held in the prisoner's dock for three hours. The man was then released after the court had warned him of the penalties in contempt of process. Field and his brother, George Field, were the principal witnesses against Willard. The court ordered the jury to find the defendant not guilty.

ANNUAL INSPECTION A MASQUERADE PARTY

Of the Ladd and Whitney Post 185, G. A. R. Was Held in the Fiffeld Tool Shop

The annual inspection of Ladd & Whitney post, No. 185, G. A. R., was held last night at the Post hall in Central street, and at the conclusion of the inspection an excellent dinner was served and addresses were made by prominent veterans and invited guests. There was a large attendance and the evening was spent in an enjoyable manner.

J. H. CAVERLY
Commander of Post 185, G. A. R.

Capt. George E. Worthen of Gen. B. P. Butler post, No. 42, G. A. R., was the inspecting officer, and he complimented Commander John H. Caverly of Ladd & Whitney post on the work of the men during the past year. At the conclusion of the inspection, the death of Past Commander J. C. A. Ferguson was announced, and Butler Gen. E. Bryant sounded taps in his memory.

Shortly after 3 o'clock those present, about 75 in all, sat down to an enjoyable dinner, one of the largest attended annual dinners held for some years. The guests of honor and after-dinner speakers were as follows: Commander Earl A. Thibault of Gen. R. P. Butler post, Inspector George E. Worthen, also of the same post; Commander Gilbert Hunt of the Adelbert Ames camp of Spanish War Veterans; David Dixon, an honorary member of the post; Commander William L. Dickey of James A. Garfield post; Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of the Eliot Congregational church and an honorary member of the post, and James O'Sullivan, also an honorary member of the post.

A large number enjoyed a masquerade party and dance to the Fiffeld tool shop last night, which was held under the auspices of Dora A. Chase. The machinery was removed from the ground floor and the boards were in preparation for the evening's festivities while various attractive decorations of potted plants, American flags and bunting were used in attracting a touch of beauty to the scene of the event.

A series of fancy dances by the pupils of Miss L. Blanche Perrin occupied the first part of the evening. Among the participants were the following:

Dance of the Witches—Mother Witch, Miss Gladys Ireland; witch children, Flora McAlpine, Hilda Benson, Madeline Hillard, Anna McMillan, Edna Fraser, Mary Twohey, Ethel Gilroy, Anna Tierney, Margaret Sharkey, Hazel Sharkey.

Pierrot—Miss Madeline Driscoll. Spanish dance—Anna Tierney, Anna McMillan, Grace Garvey. Sailor's Hornpipe—Miss Dorothy Driscoll.

Star ballet—Misses Madeline Driscoll, Mabel Maguire, Sarah Twohey, Madeline Bagley, Bernice Russell, Lilian Sullivan, Christine Macleod, Marion Royer, May Gaffney, Barbara Davis, Viola Delamanz, Alice McInerney.

Sword dance—Miss Flora McAlpine. Solo dance—Miss L. Blanche Perrin. The grand march in costume followed and many striking and picturesque costumes were seen. The march was led by Dr. Alexander McLeod and Mrs. W. F. Lane as Uncle Sam and Martha Washington, followed by Dora A. Chase as Queen of the Night and Mr. G. R. McAlpine as the host of Halloween spirits, fairies and other costumes.

Included among the various costumes seen during the evening were:

Mrs. H. L. Derby, Indian; Mrs. F. L. Roberts, Carmichael; Mrs. Daiselle Dunham Brown, cowgirl; Mrs. Winifred Packer, Symonds, Mexican; Mrs. Alice H. Taylor, bathing girl; Mrs. Annie O'Day, Goddess of Liberty; Mrs. B. D. Tuttle, Colonial dame; Agnes Josephson, Swedish national costume; Gladys Ireland, cowgirl; Miss Maude Perrin, Miss Columbia, and numerous others.

At the close of the evening light refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Ever feature of the affair was indeed most pleasing.

Miss Dora A. Chase had general charge of the arrangements and she had several capable assistants.

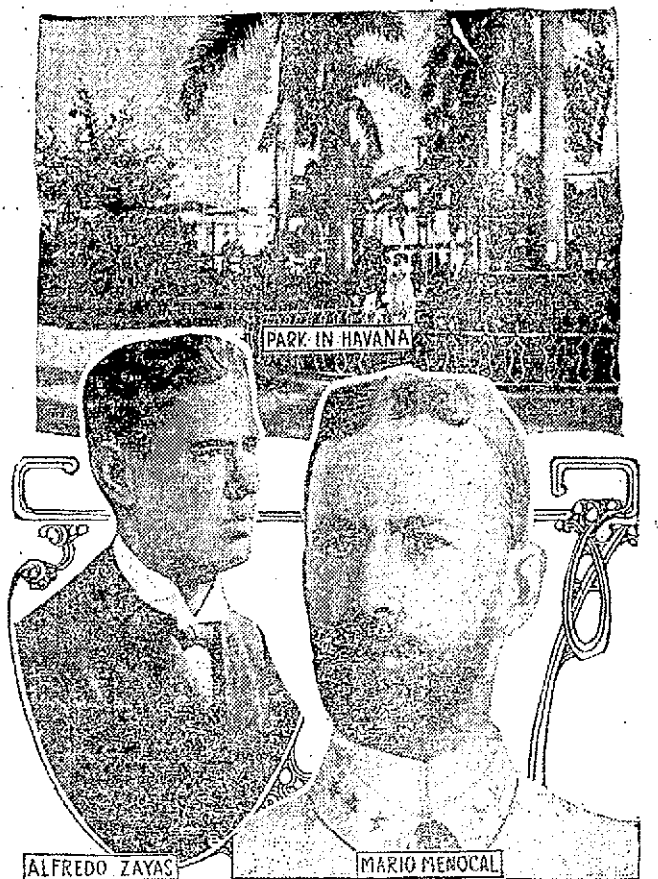

The judges of the costumes were: Walter Richardson and G. R. McLean, for the ladies, and Mrs. Walter Richardson and Mrs. A. M. Howell for the gentlemen.

Rival Candidates for Presidency

of Cuba and Scene in Havana Park

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 29.—Wholesale trouble is expected to mark the election of a president Nov. 1, as the followers of the rival candidates are extremely bitter toward each other, and more riots like those of last Friday morning are probable. Gen. Mario Menocal, the conservative candidate, and his followers declare that they have all the six provinces won if the elections are fair and that the Zayasists, in despair, are trying to steal the elections by violence and intimidation, which they (the Menocalistas) will not endure. They declare that, while they will not provoke any trouble, they will retaliate to every aggression and are prepared for any amount of bloodshed. If the elections occur and Gen. Menocal is elected, a government official said, peace may follow, as the Zayasists fear the United States government support of Gen. Menocal, with whom is also Gen. Montecarlo with his armed forces. If Alfredo Zayas, the present vice president, is elected, he said, trouble is certain, as the whole of the better elements tired of the wholesale stealing which has marked the liberal administration and which has bankrupted the treasury.

PLOT TO KILL CARUSO

Is Hinted at in the Slander Suit

ROME, Oct. 31.—A plot to assassinate Enrico Caruso, the tenor, was hinted at in evidence taken at the opening of the proceedings for slander brought by Caruso against Signorina Giachetti, his former sweetheart and companion, who has borne him several children. The once loving pair fell out when the signorina's chauffeur lost his heart to her, and the present court action is a sequel to her unsuccessful suit against Caruso last year, wherein she charged that he had intercepted a letter from Gaetano Loria in behalf of Oscar Hammerstein offering her a $50,000 contract to sing at his opera house. It was in 1908 that Giachetti eloped, so it was alleged, with Romati, her chauffeur. She had taken up with Caruso 20 years before, when both were singing at Florence. She was in New York with Caruso in 1903. She went to New York again in January, 1909, and it was said she tried to make up with Caruso, but he would not see her. Then she returned to Europe, taking with her, it was said, $25,000 of Caruso's money. In May, 1910, Signorina Giachetti complained to a Milan court that Caruso and his fellow artist, Carlotta Garisani, had intercepted letters from Gaetano Loria offering her a $50,000 operatic contract in New York. Caruso and Loria were acquitted, and they brought the present counter suit for slander against Giachetti.

Concert at Moody School
A concert was given at the Moody school yesterday afternoon by the pupils under the direction of the head master, W. S. Greene. Selections were given from the Victor Victrola, both the classical and popular pieces, being played. The proceeds of the music, which amount to about $75, will be sufficient to purchase the machine for the school as well as a few records.

Some of the Leading Harvard and Princeton Football Players Who Will Clash Saturday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—The old rivals, topnotchers of the gridiron, Princeton and Harvard, will meet in the stadium here Nov. 2 for their first clash on Harvard soil since 1889. Both elevens are in fine condition and a hard fought battle is anticipated. Harvard and Princeton in their early games had developed a scoring attack with great possibilities, a defense which had not been penetrated to any great extent and individual stars who had been more than living up to expectations. Harvard recently played Brown to a standstill in a game which was characterized by a great many misplays on the part of the Brown team and by the aggressiveness of the Harvard eleven in taking advantage of these weaknesses in Brown's play. Harvard was more powerful than Brown, both not but elevate the Tiger stock. The Princeton's defeat of Dartmouth can- evidence from start to finish, but the

Princeton defense did not prove itself irresistible. Harvard's defense has been more consistent. This should give the Crimson eleven a slight advantage, but a dependable one. It cannot be claimed that the Princeton line is irresistible. Dartmouth was able to gain substantially through it, and the Granite State boys are not the first eleven to accomplish the feat since the season opened. The probable lineup of the elevens is as follows:

Women Wore Hatpins That Were Too Long

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 31.—For wearing hatpins that protruded too far, 66 women, most of them prominent, were tried, convicted and fined yesterday in a Sydney court. They went to jail rather than pay their fines, declaring they would not submit to indignities and unnecessary legislation. The city authorities face a situation similar to that growing out of the suffrage demonstration in England, as the women assert that if further arrests and imprisonment are ordered because of the hatpin ordinance they will declare a "hunger strike" in jail.

Wagon Struck by Train

LYNN, Oct. 31.—As a train on the Boston & Maine railroad, in charge of Conductor Shapleigh and Engineer Leavitt, was going over the Blossom street crossing, bound from Boston at 8:14 last evening, the locomotive struck a wagon belonging to W. C. Whitridge & Co., driven by Clark Davis, who lives at 19 Stewart street.

Davis was thrown a considerable distance and sustained two fractured wrists and a bad shaking up. The wagon was wrecked but the horse escaped injury. Davis was carried to the hospital.

BOUT CALLED A DRAW

Robideau and Gallant in Fierce Bout

FALL RIVER, Oct. 31.—Gilbert Gallant of Boston had to exercise all his ring generalship last night to save himself from losing the verdict in his 12-round bout with Sam Robideau. The fight was easily the best ever staged by the Colonial club, and when the bell rang after 30 minutes of the toughest milling possible, Referee Martin Canole called it a draw.

It was Robideau's ability to come back in the ninth round that turned the tide, and it was his terrible right hand smash to Gallant's jaw that brought about an even decision.

The sailor was strong as a bull and shook off Gallant's jabs until the latter became fairly desperate. In the 10th, Robideau rushed from his corner, and taking Gallant unawares, swung his right to the jaw and Gallant was lifted fairly off his feet.

In the 12th Robideau smashed his right to Gallant's jaw twice but the latter came back and forced the sailor into his own corner. Both men were groggy and "all in" in the last two minutes, and when the bell sounded neither was able to land a good blow.

Young Kitchel of Pawtucket won from Young K. O. Brown of this city in eight rounds, and Young Lender of this city won from Frankie Burns in four rounds.

$25,000 to Jeannette

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—With a view to deciding on a successor to Jack Johnson's title of heavyweight champion of the world, W. C. J. Kelly, representing Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, signed a contract with Dan McKelrick, manager of Joe Jeannette, here yesterday.

The contract calls for the appearance of Jeannette in five contests in Australia, the first of which will be with Sam Langford and the second with Sam McVea both of whom are now in Australia. McIntosh agrees to give Jeannette $25,000, with the privilege of 25 per cent of the gate, with five round-trip tickets for himself, manager and sparring partners. They are to sail from San Francisco the latter part of November.

In addition to these stipulations, McIntosh will donate a gold belt emblematic of the world's heavyweight championship.

"The Meistersingers"

A very delightful concert by "The Meistersingers" was the attraction at the First Universalist church last night. It was the first in a series of entertainments of the Star course for 1912-1913, by the Y. M. C. A. "The Meistersingers" comprise the Harvard-Schubert and Weber quartets. The contributors to last night's program were: Jewett Boyd, Harold S. Tripp, Henry V. Prescott, first tenors; Arthur F. Cole, Charles W. Swaine, Lester

Sam Felton, Harvard's Star End, One of the Season's Best Punters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—Football experts here claim Sam Felton, Harvard's star end, is the best punter of the season. Felton's kicks average from 60 to 70 yards. His playing at end has been brilliant, too, and should he show up well in the game with Yale he must be considered an All-American possibility for the position.

CHELMSFORD

The members of the Chelmsford fire department were summoned yesterday noon by the ringing of the Universalist church bell to a fire in a haystack on the Billerica road, near the home of George Stuart. The church bell is supposed to be rung only when a house is on fire, but owing to the fact that the blaze was so close to several dwellings the alarm was pulled in. All members of the department, as well as many citizens, responded, and they worked untiringly to save the house, which they did after a difficult task.

This afternoon will be the last of the half-holidays enjoyed for several months by the town business places.

Tomorrow being All Saints' day, there will be services in All Saints' church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The Educational club of Lowell, of which Mrs. H. L. Fletcher of Billerica street is a member, spent a delightful afternoon at the old Tyng place in Tyngsboro yesterday. Opportunity to inspect the house, even to the slave quarters in the attic, was graciously granted by Mrs. Holbrook, whose home it is now. On the return, the party was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. F. E. Varney, who is also a member, at her home in North Chelmsford.

Walter Camp, Jr., in Race For Yale Back Field Berth

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 31.—When Walter Camp, Jr., was suffering from neuritis last summer the Yale coaches feared that he would be lost to the team this fall. His recovery was rapid, however, and he is now in great shape for the big games. Capt. Spalding and "Lefty" Flynn are assured of two of the back field positions, and football enthusiasts are watching the four-cornered race between Camp, Philbin, Pumpelly and Markle for the remaining berth. Camp's punting ability, coupled with his accurate use of the stiff arm, Philbin's speed and the punting of Pumpelly and Markle make the race one of the closest in years.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

TO RESTORE POPULAR RULE

The Sun would make a special appeal to the voters of Lowell in behalf of the democratic ticket which should be supported from top to bottom. Never before perhaps has the line of demarcation been so clearly drawn between the political parties. The republican party has practically been smashed to pieces on account of its alliance with the trusts and combines that have extorted not millions but many billions of dollars unjustly from working people of this country.

Under the returns proposed now by the democratic party the trust domination will be overcome.

The people of this country have supposed that they were ruling themselves, when, as a matter of fact, they were being ruled by the trusts and the interests that control the congress of the United States.

Why do the trusts control congress? How did they secure this control?

Simply by sending their representatives to congress, by sending manufacturers to look out for the interests of manufacturers, or by sending corporation attorneys to represent them.

The question comes whether the people of this district want to protect that system of government by the predatory interests.

Do they want to continue the rule of special privilege for the few and wage slavery for the masses of the people?

The trusts have the power to raise prices and reduce wages. They have been gouging on both ends, and the people are the sufferers.

It is true that there is widespread discontent throughout the country, and for the very best reasons, because the purchasing power of the dollar has been reduced to less than half what it was in 1896. It is all nonsense and it is an imposition upon the public, to state that the cost of living is as high in England as it is here. American beef and other commodities are sent from this country to England and sold there at from 10 to 25 per cent. less than the price to the American consumer.

This shows how the American people have been swindled by such machines as the beef trust, and this is only a type of the other trusts that have been swindling the people along different lines.

The high cost of living cannot be reduced except by reducing the tariff so as to cripple the power of the trusts without seriously injuring the business of the country. The purchasing power of the dollar must be increased and this will come about as a result of reasonable competition which is impossible under present conditions.

It is to the interest, therefore, of every wage earner in Massachusetts to stand loyally by the democratic ticket in state and nation. We want to see a democratic legislature in Massachusetts, and we expect also to see Governor Foss re-elected with Hon. David I. Walsh for lieutenant-governor. All over the country the conviction prevails that Wilson and Marshall will be elected by an overwhelming majority. In this sweeping victory it would indeed be a serious misfortune if the fifth district failed to elect a democratic congressman.

Should Humphrey O'Sullivan be elected to congress, we have no doubt, whatever, that he would accomplish more for the people of the district than any man who served in congress since General Butler. We would, therefore, advise the democrats of Lowell and the fifth district to vote solidly for the old democratic party, the only party to which the people of this country can turn at the present time for relief from the burdens of trust domination imposed by the republican party. Vote for every democratic candidate for representative and senator in your district for we need a state legislature that will send to Washington a man who will stand against the domination of the money power and the trusts to the end that the rule of the people may be restored and justice dealt out to all men.

DIED FOR THE CHILDREN

The death of the mother superior, Mary of the Cross, was the sequel to a demonstration of remarkable courage. She returned to the burning dormitory when she heard the cry of a child who had been overlooked in the hurry and excitement. A few moments later she appeared at a window in the front of the building with the babe in her arms. A ladder was placed against the masonry walls and Fire Chief Wright saved it, but before he reached her, the mother superior, with the child, fell back into the flames, where both perished.—News Despatch.

The above dispatch records but one of many heroic incidents at the terrible fire in an orphanage at San Antonio, Texas, yesterday, in which six nuns perished with but one other child than that mentioned above out of a total of 87 children. The mother superior had reached a place of safety when she heard that cry from the burning building. She knew that there was little hope of returning, but she preferred to die rather than leave the child behind and she died the death of a true and noble Christian heroine. The other five sisters sacrificed their lives as truly for the children, although perhaps not so deliberately, while one other after sending her children to safety had to jump from a window only to be fatally injured in the fall. These noble women in charge of children consider only the safety of their wards. It is to be noted that the mother superior remained to the last, feeling that responsibility rested upon her shoulders and she willingly became a martyr to duty. It is too bad that an institution of the kind should not be provided with better fire protection so that it would not be necessary for these noble women to sacrifice their lives to save the little ones. That mother superior deserves a monument to perpetuate her devotion but she did only what any of the nuns would do under like circumstances and it is against their principles to seek earthly honors or rewards.

LEECE AND WALSH

The voters of Lowell, especially the working men, may remember that Lieutenant-Governor Lece when acting in the absence of Governor Foss, refused to grant a hearing to a delegation of the Boston Elevated strikers at the state house. As District Attorney Pelletier afterwards showed that the strikers were unjustly treated, the action of the lieutenant-governor appears to have been harsh and arbitrary. When a delegation of railroaders marched upon the state house in 1891 Governor Greenhalge did not deny them a hearing. On the contrary he went out and made a speech advising them to obey the law and promising that he would do what he could to relieve their distress. Governor Greenhalge won the appreciation of the crowd and of the people throughout the state, but had he acted as arbitrarily as did Mr. Lece, his course would have precipitated a riot.

Things of this kind indicate the sympathy of the man and they serve to help the voters to select the right man on election day. Hon. David I. Walsh, the democratic candidate, in his speech at Associate hall the other evening said if he were elected lieutenant-governor, no delegation of strikers would be refused a hearing at the capital. But this is but one of the many reasons why Mr. Walsh should be supported. He is a very able man and his election will give the state an official whose brilliancy will be a credit to the commonwealth.

TO OVERTHROW SPECIAL PRIVILEGE

The aim of the democracy in this election is to overthrow the power of special privilege, to elect men who are not tied up with specially favored interests, men who are willing and free to serve the people. That is the main question involved in the principal contests before the people in the coming election; it is the chief question involved in the local congressional fight as between Mr. O'Sullivan and Mr. Rogers. The chief objection to the latter, apart from his being a republican, is, that being closely identified with the highly protected interests, he could not be expected to oppose those interests in congress, while Mr. O'Sullivan, having disposed of his business, is free to serve the people without restraint, restriction or reserve.

Governor Wilson has not written to the committee in charge of his campaign directing that Mr. McCormick's contribution of $12,500 be returned, but he has actually ordered it returned through a bank. He cannot afford to hold a dollar bearing the taint of the Harvester trust.

Seen and Heard

A banker in central Kentucky was in the habit of wearing his hat a good deal in business hours, as in summer the flies used his bald pate for a parade ground, and in winter the cold breezes swept over his polished surface. A negro workman on the railroad each week presented a check and drew his wages, and one day as he put his money in a greasy wallet the banker said: "Look here, Mose, why don't you let some of that money stay in the bank and keep an account with us?" The banker leaned toward him and, with a quizzical look at the check, the banker wore, answered confidentially: "Mose, I've feared. You look like you was always ready to start somewhere."

HAVING FAITH

Some of your hurts you have cured,
And the sharpest you still have survived;
But what torment of grief you endured
From evils which never arrived.

Let tomorrow take care of tomorrow,
Leave the things of the future alone;
What's the use to anticipate sorrow?
Life's troubles come ever too soon.

Have faith and thy faith shall sustain thee,
Permit not suspicion or care,
With invisible hands to constrain thee,
But bear what God gives thee to bear.

By his spirit supported and gladdened,
Be never by forebodings deterred,
But think how oft hearts have been saddened
By fear of what never occurred.

Let tomorrow take care of tomorrow;
Short and dark as our life may appear,
We may make it still darker by sorrow,
Still shorter by folly and fear.

Half our troubles are half our inventions,
And have often from blessings conformed
Have we shrunk in the wild apprehension
Of evils that never occurred?

Why forecast the trials of life
With such sad and grave persistence,
And look and watch for a crowd of ills
That as yet have no existence?

Strength for today is all that we need,
For we never will see tomorrow;
When it comes the morrow will be Today.

With its measures of joy or sorrow,
—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"Quite a number of well-known men and worthy citizens have dropped out of the running within the last few months," writes a correspondent, "and I have in mind at the present time my old and esteemed friend, Charles E. Smart, whose funeral took place last Sunday afternoon from his home in Warwick street. He was a genial, kindly man, a fond father and a good friend. He had been in business in Lowell for a great many years and his word was as good as his bond. He was born in Sweden, Me., and came to Lowell in 1867. Shortly after coming to Lowell he was employed by John J. Donovan in Central street and remained there until 1877 when he went into business for himself in Smith street. He was a successful business man and was respected and admired by all with whom he came in contact. I did not see the names of those who survived him mentioned in the papers. He is survived by his wife, Margaret; one daughter, Susie C., and two sons, John N. and Charles N. He is also survived by his mother, Susan C. Smart of Bridgton, Me., and three sisters, Mrs. Samuel Wiley, Mrs. John H. Ames and Mrs. Perley J. Barker. Both of his sons hold lucrative and responsible positions with offices in Boston.

Of all "aptitudes" the mechanical is least likely to manifest itself in a feminine brain. The young woman who visited a locomotive works was doubtless interested in what she saw, but her account of the processes observed leaves the reader to doubt her entire understanding of them.

"You pour," she told a friend, "a lot of sand into a lot of boxes and you throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and then you turn the red-hot stream into a hole in the sand, and everybody yells and shouts."

"Then you pour it out, let it cool and pound it, and then you put in it a thing that bores holes in it. Then you screw it together and paint it and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly, and they take it to a drafting room and make a blueprint of it."

"But one thing I forgot—they have to make a boiler. One man gets inside and covers his face outside, and they pound frightfully, and then they tie it to the other thing, and you ought to see it go!"

ANY dealer will tell you that the sale of FATIMAS has increased faster than that of any other cigarette ever put on the market. This sensational growth is the result of extra quality put into the cigarettes, instead of into a fancy package.

CAPT. YOUNG MURDERED

Believed to be Victim of Robber

SURRY, Me., Oct. 31.—Capt. Harry C. Young, chairman of the republican town committee, whose body was found on the edge of a narrow stream in the business centre of this village yesterday, was the victim of a murder, in the opinion of County Attorney Herbert L. Graham. After a day of investigation, County Attorney Graham said last night that there was no doubt in his mind that Capt. Young was murdered for his money.

Captain Young, a retired sea captain, 58 years old, was the proprietor of the village store. He left his store early Monday night for home, taking the day's cash with him. The money was missing when the body was found yesterday, but Captain Young's watch was in a vest pocket.

In connection with the death the police court today. This is expected to follow the inquest into Captain Young's death. Coroner D. L. Fields summoned a jury yesterday afternoon.

The autopsy by Medical Examiner Elmer J. Morrison yesterday afternoon showed that Captain Young's death was due to a fracture of the skull; the man was dead before he fell into the stream.

He has not been arrested, but the police say he will probably be given a preliminary hearing in the Ellsworth police court today. This is expected to follow the inquest into Captain Young's death. Coroner D. L. Fields summoned a jury yesterday afternoon.

BITTER DEFEAT FOR THE TURKS

A LOAN OF $12,000,000 MADE THREE DAYS OF TERRIFIC FIGHTING JURY REPORTED DISAGREEMENT

To B. & M. Road by the New Haven Road, According to Vice-President Hobbs

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Statements that the scope of the complaint of the New England freight shippers to the interstate commerce commission would be widened were made at today's hearing by Chairman Prouty of the commission. Chairman Prouty said he intended to return to Boston late next month and probably will take up charges which have been made against the New York, New Haven & Hartford road.

Edward Buckland, vice president of the New Haven, said that the road would welcome a searching investigation of the charges made by Edmund C. Coleman, former president of the Poughkeepsie railroad, that interests hostile to New England controlled the New Haven system.

A total of $12,000,000 has been loaned at four per cent. interest to the Boston & Maine railroad by the New Haven Company, according to William J. Hobbs, vice president of the Boston & Maine, who was a witness. Mr. Hobbs said that the New Haven had been absolutely fair in all its dealings with the Boston & Maine and added that reports to the contrary were without foundation.

Mr. Hobbs testified that the payroll of the Boston & Maine amounted to $750,000 on Sept. 1, 1911, and $936,000 in the corresponding month of this year. The 1912 figures, he said, included a reduction in track employees. He testified that the gross revenue on June 30, 1910, was $43,351,175 on June 30, 1911, $44,815,984 and on June 30, 1912, $45,990,363.

David O. Lee, transportation manager of the chamber of commerce, told the commission that more than 400 shippers had serious complaints to make in regard to some important features of the service furnished by the railroad companies.

Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism

The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14 Barton St., Boston, Mass., is another victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years. It kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." ### HAS TAKEN PLACE AT LULE BURGAS, IT IS REPORTED

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Bulgarian army has completely defeated a Turkish force estimated at 200,000 men at Lule Burgas after three days of terrific fighting, according to a news agency despatch from Sofia. The Bulgarian cavalry is pursuing the retreating Turks.

The Turkish army after the defeat at Lule Burgas retreated toward the Tchatalja. Adrianople is completely hemmed in by the Bulgarian troops.

SERIES OF DETERMINED FIGHTS BETWEEN BULGARIANS AND THE TURKS

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The wings of the Turkish and Bulgarian armies which roughly occupy lines stretching from Lule Burgas to Viza have been engaged for the past three days in a series of determined fights. The Bulgarians claim to have defeated the Turks at the Lule Burgas and while the Turks assert that the Bulgarians have been driven back around Viza. On the fighting in the center no authoritative report has yet been made. The Bulgarians are slaking every-thing on the result of this great bat-

lie. They have brought up all their available regulars to the front, leaving the investment of the fortress of Adrianople which is now completely hemmed in to their reserves, some of whom have taken the field in civilian clothing.

The Turkish commanders, too, appear to have brought to Europe all the troops it was possible to withdraw from Asia Minor, as it is now announced that regular traffic on the Anatolian railways has been partially resumed.

Some of the Turkish troops from Asia Minor are being landed at the Bulgarian port of Burgas on the Black sea, doubtless with the hope of drawing in that direction part of the Bulgarian troops engaged further south.

The report that Bulgarian cavalry had gone to the port of Rodosto on the sea of Marmora is considered in military circles to be quite natural.

The Greeks, too, appear to be spreading out their lines. They have occupied Grevena on the western road leading to Monastir. Grave fears are expressed in regard to the Christian population of Constantinople, Saloniki and other Turkish ports where the news of Turkish defeats is being circulated in spite of the censorship and official denials. Great Britain has already ordered a warship to proceed to Saloniki for the protection of British lives and property there and the action of the other powers in the matter is under consideration.

VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME IN UTICA LAST EVENING

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—After a long illness Vice President James Schoolcraft Sherman died at his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock last night of uremic poisoning, caused by Bright's disease.

He had been sinking ever since early morning and it was realized that death was a question of only a few hours. There was slight relief shortly after 1 o'clock by an apparent improvement in the condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove real or lasting, and at best gave only temporary hope.

At 9 o'clock the temperature rose to 106. From that time the condition rapidly passed from bad to worse until the end. He was unconscious when the end came and had been in that condition for hours with but slight change.

All the members of the immediate family were witnesses of the final scene. In addition to Mrs. Sherman, there were their three sons, Sherrill, Richard U. and Thomas M. Sherman, and their respective wives, R. W. and Sanford Sherman, brothers of Mr. Sherman, and Mrs. L. B. Moore and Mrs. H. J. Cookingham, sisters of Mr. Sherman.

Soon after Mr. Sherman's death Dr. Fayette H. Peck, the attending physician, issued the following statement: "The vice president died at 9:42 p. m. without regaining consciousness for a moment. He had been entirely unconscious since 7 o'clock, when he had a period of partial consciousness lasting for about 15 minutes. He died."

THE U. S. GRAND JURY

Indicted the Consolidated Rendering Co.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The Consolidated Rendering Co. of Boston and four of its officers were indicted by the United States grand jury today on a charge of conducting an unlawful monopoly in the beef rendering business in the New England states. The government claims that when the alleged monopoly was projected in May, 1903, the company actually controlled only 10 per cent of the business and that it now controls 55 per cent of the trade in New England.

The officers indicted are Edward F. Swift of Chicago, president; Edward A. Tilden, Chicago, vice president; Horatio W. Heath, Boston; General and George H. Swift, Boston.

The indictment sets forth that the Consolidated Rendering Co., operated through its subsidiaries, the Boston Lard & Skin Association, Commonwealth Glue, Essex Glue and Gelatine Co., Hinkley Rendering Co., New England Rendering Co., George E. Marsh & Co., Charles Buck and Sons Co. and the Whitman and Pratt Rendering Co. The indictment charges that competition was eliminated by a secret arrangement made by the Consolidated Rendering Co.'s officials with the Eastern Oil & Rendering Co. of Portsmouth, N. H., John Reardon & Sons Co. of Cambridge, N. Ward Co. of Boston; S. A. Meagher Co. of Mattapan; M. Fitzpatrick & Sons of Cambridge and James F. Morse & Co. of Roxbury.

NEW CLUBHOUSE

Is to Be Built by the Centralville Social Club—Building Will be Two Stories High

The regular meeting of the Centralville Social club was held last night in the club's quarters in Lakeview avenue with President Isidore Trudel in the chair. Several new members were initiated and routine business transacted. A matter of great importance, that of the new clubhouse, was brought before the meeting. The committee in charge of the plans of the new building reported that the said plans had been finished by Architect Joseph Roche and the same were submitted to the meeting.

After a careful study of the plans they were adopted and a vote of thanks was extended the members of the committee, which are as follows: Edmond Traversy, Adolphe Bouchard, Joseph Elie, Charles Bourret and Arsene Trudel. The building which will be two stories high will be built on the parcel of land recently purchased by the club at the junction of Lakeview avenue and Grand street, and it is expected work on the excavation will be started very soon.

Bunting Club Directors

The 12 men who comprise the retiring board of directors of the Bunting club enjoyed a banquet last night at the Waverly hotel. Everyone present was called upon for a speech and one and all congratulated President McNulty on his reelection. Though several of last year's board were defeated in the recent election, yet they manifested the spirit of good losers and evinced their willingness to do all they can in the interest of the organization.

THE FINANCIAL REPORT

City is $450,938.65 From Debt Limit

The report of the commissioner of finance for the month of September was received from the printer today, though it should have been delivered a week ago.

The distance from the debt limit, Sept. 30, according to the report, was $450,938.65. The general treasury receipts for the month totalled $2,348,656.48 and the total payments amounted to $2,118,142.17, leaving a cash balance of $230,514.29.

All of the departments with the exception of the street department, are in good condition, financially, and will pull through without asking for any more money, though it will be necessary, perhaps, to make some transfers. Out of an appropriation of $55,525.76 for streets, under the head of "other expenses," there remains but $1,476.44, and that, perhaps, is not quite as bad a showing as in the street department, salaries and wages. For salaries and wages the sum of $107,732.38 was appropriated and of that appropriation there remains the sum of $7,339.83.

Discussing the monthly report and the status of the different departments at city hall, it was remarked today that more back taxes have been collected thus far this year than for the corresponding months in any other year in the history of the city.

In the Case of Deering vs. the Town of Concord for Personal Damages

The jury in the case of Deering vs. the town of Concord, an action of tort, last night reported a disagreement after being closed up for several hours. The case was opened at the civil session of the superior court on Monday and was closed at 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

The plaintiff seeks to recover damages for alleged injuries received by being thrown to the ground as a result of striking a defective plank being used in the erection of a bridge in the said town. She claimed that she was exercising due care at the time and that the defendant was negligent in not having the bridge properly protected. The charge of the jury was made yesterday forenoon at 11 o'clock.

and it was not until late last night that a sealed verdict announcing a disagreement was given.

At the opening of this morning's session the case of John J. Hyde vs. the Bay State Street Railway Co. was resumed before Judge McLaughlin. In this case the plaintiff seeks to recover for alleged injuries received in being knocked out of his automobile when the latter vehicle was struck by a car owned by the defendant company in an accident which occurred in Lawrence street opposite the plant of the Heine Electric Co. on Feb. 29, 1912.

The first witness called this morning was Mr. Hyde, who testified that on the above date he had worked in factory No. 2 of the Heine Electric Co. and was returning to his home in his automobile at 1:15 a. m., when upon coming out of the yard of the said plant, his machine was struck by an electric car of the Bay State Street Railway Co., and operated by employees of the said company, and that he was badly injured. The ad damnum in this case is $15,000.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Child Was Killed Near Her Home

WORCESTER, Oct. 31.—While observing Halloween in a childish way near her home last night, Annie Burke, 6 years old, daughter of William A. Burke of 4 Lexington street, was killed by an automobile owned and operated by Chester W. Doten, a pawnbroker.

The little girl had just left some of her playmates to return home when the accident happened. With her head partially covered with a large cartoon, in which a hole had been made to look through, it is believed that her view of the street was partially obstructed and that she stepped in front of the automobile, which was said to have been traveling slowly at the time of the accident.

Who Are Breaking Glass in Alarm Boxes

The breaking of glass in fire alarm boxes throughout the city by mischievous boys has become so prevalent of late that Chief Hosmer has asked the police to assist in the detection and conviction of the offenders. Supt. Welch has taken the matter up and intends to make an example of any person caught tampering with a fire alarm box.

It has become a habit for some boys on returning from school to see "who is the best shot" and aim stones at the glass on the little box which contains the key.

The glasses in box 68, corner of Sixth and Fremont streets; box 164, corner of Third and Vernon streets; and box 256, at the corner of B and Tupper streets, have been smashed on several occasions during the past week and last night the key was inserted in box 236 and the door opened.

UNITED STATES

Is Rapidly Becoming the Educational Center of the World, Says Professor Tombo

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The United States is rapidly becoming the educational center of the world, it statistics prepared by Prof. Rudolph Tombo of Columbia university are correct. Dr. Tombo selected 21 of the leading universities of Germany and a like number from America to make his comparison.

In total registration Dr. Tombo showed that the American universities have an enrollment of 75,000 against 55,000 in the German institutions. The foreign students in Germany number 4,500 and in the United States 1,500. American colleges are gaining every year, however. The largest foreign delegation in America is found at Columbia, with Pennsylvania, Harvard and Cornell following in the order named.

KENTUCKIANS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF SHERIFF CALLAHAN

Mayor Sends Letter to Labor Council Man Was Placed in the Prisoner's Docket

The following letter from Mayor O'Donnell to the secretary of the trades and labor council relative to the status of the eight-hour day clause in all city contracts which may involve the employment of labor, and the opinion of the city solicitor in the matter, are of great general interest and are self explanatory:

Lowell, Mass., October 31, 1912.
Mr. Charles S. Anderson,
Trades and Labor Council, City.

Dear Mr. Anderson:—
As a result of the conference recently held with your committee relative to the eight-hour law, I have taken the matter up with the city solicitor, and today have received from him an opinion on the matter, a copy of which you will find enclosed.

The opinion points out quite clearly the method of procedure necessary before the law can become operative in this city. As the city election is over one month away you will have ample time to present the necessary petition and get the question on the ballot if your committee attends to the matter at once.

If there is any further assistance that I can render you, consider me at your command.

Respectfully,
James E. O'Donnell,
Mayor of Lowell.

October 30, 1912.
Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of the City of Lowell.

My Dear Sir:—Concerning the legal status of the eight-hour day clause, a stipulation to be incorporated in all contracts, except contracts for the purchase of material and supplies, to which the city is a party, which may involve the employment of labor, stating that "no laborers, workmen or mechanics, working within this commonwealth, in the employ of a contractor of sub-contractor or other persons doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contract, shall be required to work more than eight hours in one calendar day, and any contract that does not contain this stipulation shall be null and void."

The city solicitor is of the opinion that since the city of Lowell has never adopted the provision of law, in conformity to the requirements of the act, providing for such stipulation, it is necessary, therefore, that in order to enjoy the privileges of the act, that the city of Lowell should strictly adhere to the statute providing for the proper acceptance thereof, and, in order to so accept such provision, it is necessary to conform to the direction laid down in section 42 of chapter 514 of the Acts of 1902, the language of which is as follows:

"In a city or town which, by a vote taken by ballot, at an annual election, accepts the provisions of this section, or, subsequently to the twenty-eighth day of June in the year nineteen hundred and seven, accepted the provisions of the section (twenty of chapter one hundred and six of the Revised Laws, of 1902), shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics who are employed by such city or town. If a petition for such vote, signed by one hundred or more registered voters of a city, or twenty-five or more registered voters of a town, is filed with the city or town clerk, respectively, thirty days or more before an annual election such vote shall be taken at such election."

Therefore, it would seem clear that, at once, petition should be filed, pursuant to such act, in order that it may be passed upon at the coming city election, which is an annual election.

When Field took the stand, the man was then released after the court had warned him of the penalties in contempt of court. Field and his brother, George Field, were the principal witnesses against Willard. The court ordered the jury to find the defendant not guilty.

GOVERNOR FOSS IN SPRINGFIELD

Explains Grand Trunk's Bill and Speaks on Needs of Port of Boston

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 31.—Governor Eugene N. Foss, David I. Walsh of Fitchburg and Charles B. Stricker of Boston were the principal speakers last night at the largest democratic rally ever held in this city. The first rally was held in Central High School and the other in Apollo hall.

The governor explained his reasons for vetoing the Trolley Merger bill, stating that he did so to prevent the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad from obtaining a monopoly of the traffic in this part of the state. He also spoke on the high cost of living, and said the tariff had much to do with it.

Mr. Walsh received an enthusiastic reception. He paid glowing tribute to William G. McKee, candidate for congress from this district.

Mr. Stricker spoke entirely on national issues. The other speakers were Wm. G. McKee, H. J. Sullivan, ex-Congressman Kellner of Boston, J. J. Courtney and Mayor Edward H. Edward Lathrop. Gov. Foss and Mr. Walsh addressed an enthusiastic crowd of several thousand at the Hodge Mfg. Co. yesterday noon. The tour of the governor and his assistants included the following places: Indian Orchard, Ludlow, North Wilmbrham, Wilmbrham, Hampden, East Longmeadow, Longmeadow and Chicopee.

The Grand Trunk Issue

In his speech last night Gov. Foss said, in part:

"It is difficult to make out from the despatches given to the press concerning Mr. Walker's speech at Marlboro just whether he meant to misrepresent the situation as to the use of the tracks of other railroads by the Grand Trunk or not. I prefer to think that he was ignorant of the railroad law of Massachusetts that he was not consciously trying to make campaign material by giving false impressions.

"He refers to a clause in a bill which I submitted providing that other railroads (such as the Grand Trunk) might instead of building their lines into the heart of Boston at staggering expense have their trains go in over the existing tracks of our present railroads.

"The clause to which he refers was inserted simply to make clear beyond question the right to do this under the general railroad law where electric traction was involved. The proviso about which he seems to have tried to get his audience excited in vain was nothing more than a concise statement of the situation as to running rights, which has existed in Massachusetts and elsewhere for the last 50 years, that between two points on foreign trackage local service could not be rendered.

"Mr. Walker says that if he had been governor, he would have favored a law providing that any railroad entering Boston could use the trackage of another as its own to deal with in any way it pleased. This again shows how incapable Mr. Walker is of dealing with the railroad situation, because of his ignorance of the matter.

"If there had been a provision of that sort the astute counsel of the New Haven would have kept a straight face while he was getting such an act passed, and then have proceeded to have the law declared unconstitutional at the first opportunity.

In No Position to Dictate

"The republican party is in no position to dictate terms to the New Haven road. If they should get into power there would be nothing for them but unconditional surrender.

"And yet Mr. Walker has the distinction to make the people of the suburbs think that what he was talking about has any relation to the present Grand Trunk bill itself. He is apparently trying to make the people of Newton, for example, think that this change would prevent the Grand Trunk from performing local service from its own tracks to the Boston terminal system, if it should build through Newton; but this, of course, is not between two points on the other trackage.

"What I was trying to do was to make it absolutely clear that the Grand Trunk could get its trains hauled by electricity over existing trackage without tearing up our suburbs. If it wanted to get into Boston the quickest and cheapest way.

"We want the Grand Trunk railroad to come to Boston as a most important natural competitor with our existing railroad system.

"We welcome the Grand Trunk to Boston, furthermore, as a means of building up the port of Boston. We intend to have Boston not only the principal eastern port of our country, but to make it serve also as the most available seaport for Canadian business.

Need $100,000,000

"I take this occasion to state to the people of Massachusetts that with the splendid new opportunities for commerce that are now opening to us, we shall want $100,000,000, to be spent in developing the commercial facilities of our great seaport.

"Such an investment, applied with engineering skill and business ability, and with absolutely no dictation from any corporation, will be returned tenfold to the people of the state; and property values and industrial interests will respond to this stimulus just as they have responded in New York to the public development of the harbor and docks of that city.

"I publicly thank the port directors for their splendid enterprise. Their plans for the development of Boston harbor as published in this morning's papers are splendid. They are, however, only a beginning to the work which must ultimately be done.

"While we are building up the port of Boston we must at the same time push forward with equal energy the commercial development of our principal rivers, particularly the Connecticut, the Merrimack and the Taunton rivers.

"Massachusetts must grow as a center of industry, commerce and prosperity. Otherwise the commercial stagnation of the past decade under railroad monopoly will continue, until Massachusetts becomes only a summer resort for New York.

"With public sentiment now thoroughly aroused on these issues, the railroad monopoly and its political allies exposed, and with the splendid impetus to public enterprise furnished by the Hamburg-American plans, I feel confident that our commercial future is assured.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in writing to thank you for what your medicine has done for my daughter.

"Before taking your medicine she was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, could not walk but a short distance at a time, and had severe pains in head and limbs. She came very near having nervous prostration. She had begun to cough a good deal and seemed melancholy by spells. She tried two doctors but got little help.

"I cannot find words to express my gratefulness for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for my daughter. She feels and looks like another girl since taking it, and I shall always feel that I owe you a great debt.

"You can use this letter for the benefit of others if you wish, as I shall always recommend your medicines for female troubles."—Mrs. C. COLE, Fitchville, Ohio.

Many Clerks in Grasp

Of Hungry Loan Sharks
in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Assistant District Attorney Brooks, head of the bureau of usury, filed a report yesterday showing the work done since June, when a crusade against loan sharks was begun.

The report states: "The extent of the usurious loan business in New York is greater than generally supposed. It is conservatively estimated that more than $20,000,000 in loans under $200 are made annually, at an average interest of more than 200 per cent.

"Not less than 30,000 city employees are now on every pay day, turning over a portion of their wages to salary loan companies, and employees of corporations and firms in New York city to the number of one hundred thousand are still in the clutches of these money lenders.

"Since the district attorney's office took up the investigation of the usurious loans the business of the money lenders has been greatly curtailed, and they have suffered great financial loss. Many of the companies have gone out of business, and most of those that remain are not making new loans, but are merely collecting on old obligations.

"We have interviewed about seven hundred persons, the greater part of which were adverse to making any complaint on account of fear of publicity, but sought to be relieved of their financial distress and from the oppression of money lenders.

"Fully three hundred cases were settled to the entire satisfaction of the complainants through the intervention of this office, by the payment of the money actually borrowed, plus six per cent. interest.

"It was discovered in some cases that the object of borrowing the money was to get the better of the loan sharks with no intention of ever paying the loan. In several instances it was discovered that the borrowers were trying to use the district attorney's office to extort money from the loan sharks.

"In most cases known it was found that the borrowers, driven by distress to obtain money, had signed confessions of judgment without knowing it, and these judgments were entered, when the occasion arose, in upstate courts, where the borrowers, because of poverty could not make a defense, thus through the instrumentality of the courts is usury actually collected."

Mrs. Brooks states that 21 persons are awaiting trial for collecting usury and that the supreme court has refused to grant the application of the loan sharks for injunctions to restrain the district attorney. He recommends the establishment of a civil bureau to defend victims against whom money lenders bring civil actions and he has been assured that within a short time money will be on hand to establish this bureau.

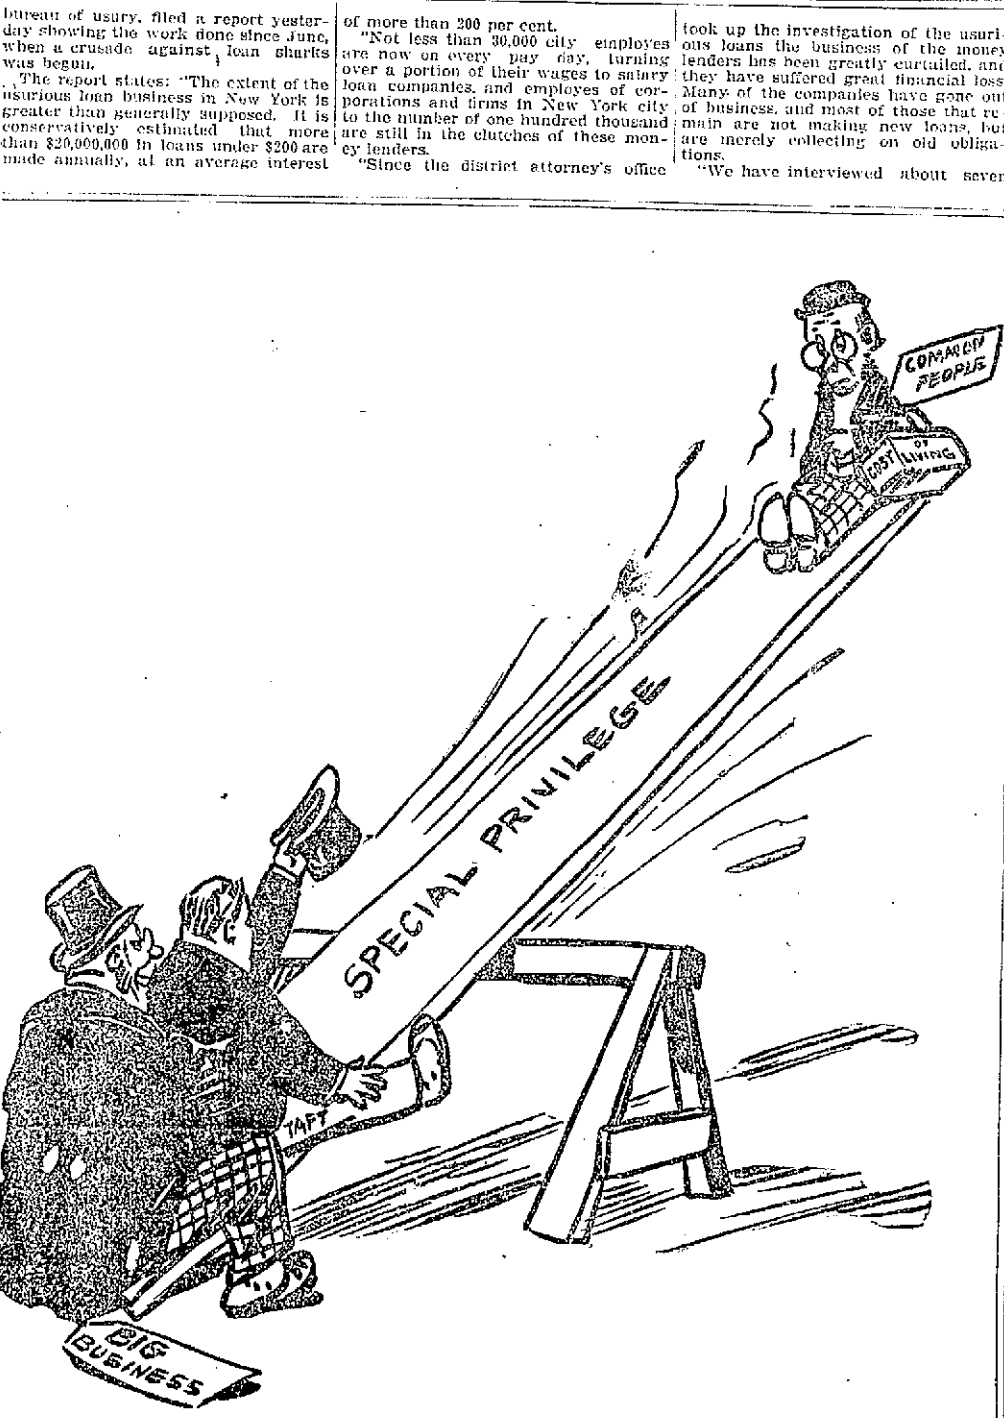

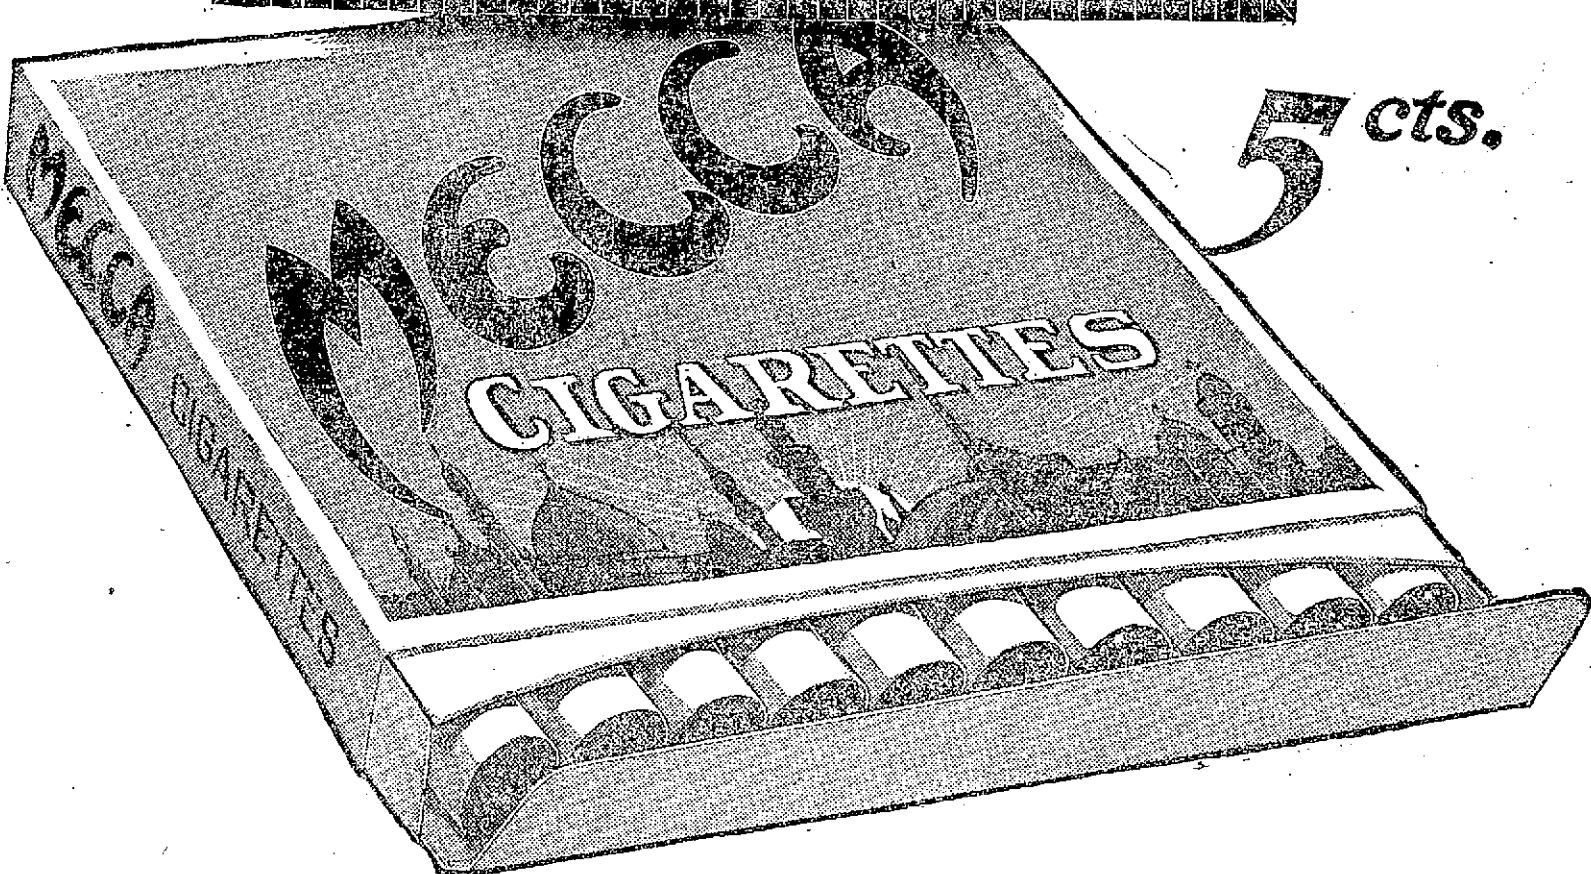

At the suggestion of the bureau of usury the New York Central and other corporations have abandoned the rule to discharge employees who have pledged their wages to the money lenders.

The largest usurious rate found during the inquiry was 501 per cent, and the lowest 40 per cent.

VICE PRESIDENT DEAD

In a uremia coma as a result of Bright's disease, heart disease and arterio sclerosis.

Not since early yesterday morning, when Dr. Fayette H. Peck, his attending physician, made the final announcement of his inability to do more for relief than had been done, has there been the least possibility of saving the patient's life. He devoted his final efforts to keeping the patient quiet and preventing suffering.

Due both to the presence of excessive uric acid and to the sedatives employed, Mr. Sherman had lain in a state of coma throughout the greater part of the day. Only twice did he throw off the dense stupor which enthralled him, and on neither occasion was he conscious of more than a few minutes. During one of these intervals he got out of bed and stood on the floor for a brief period. His weakness was such, however, that he was soon compelled to lie down, a circumstance which in itself marked the rapid advance of his malady.

While in his right mind yesterday he recognized Mrs. Sherman and Dr. Peck and spoke to both in familiar and endearing terms.

All day long the Sherman home and the local newspaper offices were deluged with inquiries by telegram and telephone concerning the condition of the vice president. Reports of his death earlier in the day had been widespread and one telegram of condolence was received at 6 o'clock. About 2 o'clock an unidentified woman called the fire department of the city, telling the officials that Mr. Sherman was dead. She informed them that she had the sanction of the Sherman family for asking them to tell the city hall bell for him.

Mr. Sherman's rapid decline in health dates from Aug. 21, when he was formally notified of his nomination as vice president, according to Dr. Peck. He was warned that the excitement incident to the ceremonies might have an ill effect, but insisted that the program as arranged be carried out.

"You may know all about medicine," Mr. Sherman told his wife, when he asked him to arrange for a brief and informal notification, "but you don't know about politics."

Exertions of Notification Day "It was against my advice," said Dr.

Peck last night, "that Mr. Sherman participated in the formalities of the notification ceremonies. I suggested it would be better for him to receive the committee in the parlor of his home, tell them briefly that while he did not want a re-nomination, he would accept in a spirit of loyalty and let that suffice."

"When it became apparent that he would not yield to my suggestions, I urged him to make a speech of no more than five minutes. Instead he spoke for more than half an hour. Two days later the exertions of notification day began to tell on the patient and he began to fail."

Dr. Peck said the vice president apparently has not worried over the outcome of the campaign. "His peace of mind has been more disturbed over was elected mayor by a majority of 1235. This was larger than the vote any predecessor had received in years. His law practice promised an income that was attractive and his brother-in-law urged him to stick to his profession, but one year of office-holding had convinced him that in public life he could get more enjoyment than in the more prosaic legal business of corporations. He made an arrangement to hold his interest in his law firm. From the time he was elected mayor, Mr. Sherman began a quiet campaign for the republican nomination for congress. The district had been represented by Roscoe Conkling.

Thomas H. Platt, the successor of Roscoe Conkling as republican state leader, looked with favor on the popular young man from Utica, whom every body called "Jim," and Mr. Platt had a chance to know him well, since he was a resident of the adjoining county. Perhaps Mr. Sherman could have won without the endorsement of Mr. Platt, but after he was the party candidate there was never any doubt of his election. In 1885 he was elected to congress at the age of 31.

His Career in Congress In 1888 he was up for reelection and he was again successful. In 1890, however, the year of the democratic tidal wave, when many nominally strong republican districts throughout the country sent democrats, Mr. Sherman was defeated.

For two years he gave all his time to the practice of law and attained great prosperity. He became connected with several lighting, power and financial corporations and from the investments then made his great fortune grew.

In 1892 Mr. Sherman was again elected to congress after being sent as a delegate to the republican national convention. From that time until he retired in 1909 to become vice president he never knew a defeat.

Congressman Sherman stood as a representative machine man of the highest type. He was an ardent follower of Thomas H. Platt, but that did not affect his standing with his constituents. When Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., succeeded Senator Platt, Mr. Sherman was just as loyal to him. In 1896, when the political skies were dark, Mr. Sherman was chosen to appear to the independent vote as chairman of the republican state convention and again in 1910 he was the candidate of the old machine for temporary chairman against Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

In congress Mr. Sherman was of the staidest republican type. He was popular not only among the men of his own side of the house, but among democrats. No man in congress had a wider circle of friends.

To Reed, Mr. Sherman owed more than to any other man. Temperamentally there was much to attract the two. No man was more appreciative of an anecdote than Mr. Reed and "Jim" Sherman was a story-teller and a lover of the human in man. So the two became companions and friends.

Friendship with McKinley Speaker Reed made Congressman Sherman chairman of the committee on Indian affairs when the Indian land question was among the most prominent.

"Pretty risky offer," you'll say; not at all. Dealers know just what PARISHAN SAGE will do and have the promise of the American people, the Grand Old One of Boston, N. Y., that they will back them up in their strong guarantee. Pretty fair and square offer isn't it?

Mrs. J. G. Franklin, Fulton, Mo., writes: "PARISHAN SAGE eradicates dandruff, cleans the scalp, and makes the hair grow and become beautiful. My hair is now growing and becoming beautiful. My hair is now growing and becoming beautiful. My hair is now growing and becoming beautiful."

Ask for PARISHAN SAGE Hair Tonic and firmly refuse substitutes. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package and your druggist will tell you that Parishan Sage is a splendid hair dressing free from poisonous lead or other dangerous ingredients. "Carter & Sherburne" guarantee it.

It soon found the recognition that had been denied him by the democrats. In 1892 he was chosen secretary of the republican committee of Onondaga county. In that position he revealed uncommon ability as an organizer. In 1893 the democratic ticket was defeated when he announced himself a candidate for mayor.

This he secured, but it was far from equivalent to election, at a time when Utica, like other sections of New York, had shown a disposition to vote the democratic ticket. Grover Cleveland was governor and the democratic party was growing fast even in Onondaga county.

James S. Sherman was young, and he had as an opponent, Lewis H. Shattuck, a democrat of sterling character and of excellent reputation. But Mr. Sherman proceeded to make the voters acquainted with the merits of the republican ticket. The smile, the handshake, the pleasant disposition and the energy of the young man were appealing and he was elected mayor by a majority of 1235. This was larger than the vote any predecessor had received in years. His law practice promised an income that was attractive and his brother-in-law urged him to stick to his profession, but one year of office-holding had convinced him that in public life he could get more enjoyment than in the more prosaic legal business of corporations. He made an arrangement to hold his interest in his law firm. From the time he was elected mayor, Mr. Sherman began a quiet campaign for the republican nomination for congress. The district had been represented by Roscoe Conkling.

Thomas H. Platt, the successor of Roscoe Conkling as republican state leader, looked with favor on the popular young man from Utica, whom every body called "Jim," and Mr. Platt had a chance to know him well, since he was a resident of the adjoining county. Perhaps Mr. Sherman could have won without the endorsement of Mr. Platt, but after he was the party candidate there was never any doubt of his election. In 1885 he was elected to congress at the age of 31.

His Career in Congress In 1888 he was up for reelection and he was again successful. In 1890, however, the year of the democratic tidal wave, when many nominally strong republican districts throughout the country sent democrats, Mr. Sherman was defeated.

For two years he gave all his time to the practice of law and attained great prosperity. He became connected with several lighting, power and financial corporations and from the investments then made his great fortune grew.

In 1892 Mr. Sherman was again elected to congress after being sent as a delegate to the republican national convention. From that time until he retired in 1909 to become vice president he never knew a defeat.

Congressman Sherman stood as a representative machine man of the highest type. He was an ardent follower of Thomas H. Platt, but that did not affect his standing with his constituents. When Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., succeeded Senator Platt, Mr. Sherman was just as loyal to him. In 1896, when the political skies were dark, Mr. Sherman was chosen to appear to the independent vote as chairman of the republican state convention and again in 1910 he was the candidate of the old machine for temporary chairman against Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

In congress Mr. Sherman was of the staidest republican type. He was popular not only among the men of his own side of the house, but among democrats. No man in congress had a wider circle of friends.

To Reed, Mr. Sherman owed more than to any other man. Temperamentally there was much to attract the two. No man was more appreciative of an anecdote than Mr. Reed and "Jim" Sherman was a story-teller and a lover of the human in man. So the two became companions and friends.

Friendship with McKinley Speaker Reed made Congressman Sherman chairman of the committee on Indian affairs when the Indian land question was among the most prominent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Allison MacFarland, acquitted by a New Jersey jury of the charge of wife murder ten days ago, is under arrest on a compelling charge. He was arrested as a secret service man at 100 West 10th street, where he has been known signorina's chauffeur lost his heart for her, and the present court action is a sequel to her unsuccessful suit against Caruso last year, wherein she charged that he had intercepted a letter from Gaetano Loria in behalf of Oscar Hammerstein offering her a $5,000 contract to sing at his opera house. It was in 1905 that Giachetti eloped. It was alleged, with Romati, her chauffeur. She had taken up with Caruso 10 years before, when both were singing at Florence. She was in New York with Caruso in 1903. She went to New York again in January, 1910, and it was said she tried to make a deal with Caruso, but he would not see her. Then she returned to Europe, taking with her, it was said, $25,000 of Caruso's money. In May, 1910, Signorina Giachetti complained to a Milanese judge that Caruso and his fellow artist, Costanza Garlinani, had intercepted letters from Gaetano Loria offering her a $50,000 operatic contract in New York. Caruso and Loria were acquitted, they brought the present counter-suit for slander against Giachetti.

Allison Mason, MacFarland is charged with having counterfeited 50 pieces. The detectives found in room metal molds and in his possession 15 unfinished coins. These coins composed of a centre of lead composition and were covered on one side with silver foil.

REUNION OF IMMACULATE CONCEPTION PARISH

Held in Associate Hall
Last Evening With Big
Attendance

REV. OWEN McQUAID, O. M. I.

The annual reunion of the members of the Immaculate Conception parish, held in Associate hall last evening, was a magnificent success in every particular. The attendance was one of the largest that ever assembled in the hall, the large number strikingly attesting the loyalty of the parishioners. Long before the announced time for the affair to open the spacious hall was filled and during the entire evening, parishioners and friends welcomed their way to the hall to renew friendships and enjoy a part of the program.

The hall itself presented a very inviting appearance, being beautifully decorated and illuminated. The numerous incandescents were enclosed in pumpkin colored shades, and the soft glow made a most pleasing effect. Other hall decorations consisted of crepe paper and bunting were artistically distributed around the hall. Along the sides were located tables, which were decorated with Halloween effects, that added much to the festive scheme. The stage was decked with potted plants and ferns, while in the background, suspended from the ceiling was a large American flag.

The entertainment was one of great variety and quality, being given by performers from a local theatre, and a fair sprinkling of local talent. The concert opened with selections by Braderick's orchestra. Marie Dumas, the girl baritone from Keith's, sang "Come Back to Erin" and "Sweet Sixteen," in a most pleasing and artistic manner. She was applauded to the echo, and responded to several encores. Kennedy and Heath, from the Merrimack Square, gave an enjoyable singing and talking act. Rube Dickinson, a truly rural comedian, gave a most pleasing number. During the entire time that he occupied the stage, he convulsed his large audience. The Chas. Holtz Brothers from the Academy of Music played a number of musical instruments and played them well. Miss Rose McDonough, a local girl, who is appearing at the Academy of Music, sang several solos in her usual clever manner. Miss Florence McManus entertained with several fine solos, and Miss Anna McQuinn in Scotch dancing, was exceptionally good in her number. Several other enjoyable numbers were given. The concert was in charge of John Payne, and was carried out in an unusually clever manner.

The floor was then cleared and dancing was enjoyed to the music of Braderick's orchestra. A well arranged dance order that continued until midnight was thoroughly enjoyed. Rev. Owen J. McQuaid, O. M. I., the hustling curate of the parish, was general manager of the reunion, and to him is due considerable credit for the grand success that the event proved to be. He worked hard on the arrangements, and was gratified at the anxiousness of the affair. Rev. Lawrence Tighe, O. M. I., the popular pastor, Rev. Denis Sullivan, O. M. I., and Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., who were present during the entire evening, were also well pleased with the affair. The clergyman were kept busy during the night receiving congratulations and good wishes from their many parishioners and friends.

VESPER COUNTRY CLUB

Held a Dinner Dance
Last Night

About two hundred members and their families were the guests of the Vesper-Country club last night. The dinner dance was one of the prettiest, most successful and most unique parties that has been held for a long time.

The guests began to arrive about 5 o'clock and at 5.30 a very fine dinner was served. At 7 o'clock the dancing commenced in the dining room. Hubbard's orchestra furnished the music, which consisted of all the latest popular pieces. The majority of those present spent the evening dancing, but many of the older people preferred whist, so it was played in the library and on the enclosed piazza. Appropriate prizes were awarded the winners.

The clubhouse was decorated with Japanese lanterns, cornstalks, pumpkins and greenery, all of which was appropriate to this season of the year and to a Halloween party. The menu was devoted to the mystery and novelty room. During the evening many pleasant surprises were introduced.

Arrangements had been made with the street railway company, so that special cars were waiting to convey the guests to their homes at the close of the party.

The evening was a success owing to the able management of Mr. Clough and the entertainment committee, consisting of Harry G. Pollard, Perry D. Thompson and William G. Brown.

ROBBERY IS CHARGED

Man Entered P'ea of Not Guilty

Michael Quinn, an elderly man who resides at 52 Middlesex street, was assaulted and robbed of $3 in the alleyway in the rear of the new telephone exchange in Eliot street last night about 11 o'clock.

The matter was reported to the police and about midnight Sergt. Ryan and Patrolmen Kiernan and Toiffaras arrested Costes Karalurus in Market street and sent him to the police station.

In police court this morning Karalurus was charged with robbery. He entered a plea of not guilty and the case was continued until tomorrow morning in order to give the defendant an opportunity to secure some witnesses. He was held under $500 for his appearance in the morning.

SOME DELICIOUS RECIPES

Various Ways of Using Chestnuts

Chestnut Croquettes—These croquettes are not, as a rule, to be found among household recipes, but they are as delicious as they are unusual. To make them, remove the shells from the chestnuts, then cook them tender in plenty of water, drain and pass the nuts through a sieve. Sweeten to taste with sugar and water, boiled to a thick syrup (a cup of sugar boiled with half a cup of water will be a generous quantity for a quart of the sifted chestnuts), flavor with vanilla and add the beaten yolks of three eggs to a quart of pulp; also a little salt. When cold enough to handle shape into coquettos (a pear shape is appropriate), roll in egg and bread crumbs, fry with a stem of angelica root, and fry in deep fat. Serve on a folded napkin with a sabayon sauce, which is made as follows:

In the upper part of a double boiler put one whole egg and two yolks and beat until well mixed. Then add half a cup of sugar and beat thoroughly. Set over very hot but not actually boiling water and beat while half a cup of sherry wine is stirred in. When the sauce has thickened slightly add a teaspoonful of lemon juice and turn into cold dish to arrest the cooking. Serve at once. Care must be taken in making this sauce that the eggs do not curdle. To avoid this lift the saucepan occasionally from the water, which should not reach the boiling point.

Stewed Chestnuts—Remove the shells from one pint of chestnuts, cover with boiling water and allow them to blanch fifteen minutes, then remove the brown skins. Put them in a saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil fifteen minutes. Then add a half teaspoonful of salt and boil ten minutes longer or until you can pierce them with a fork. When done drain, turn into a heated dish, pour over them cream sauce and serve.

To make cream sauce take two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cup of milk or white stock, two tablespoonfuls of flour and a quarter teaspoonful of salt and the same amount of white pepper. Cream the butter and flour together, then gradually add the milk or cream and the other ingredients.

Chestnut Custard—To one cup of chestnut puree (chestnut, boiled and mashed through a sieve) add the beaten yolks of three eggs to the chestnut pulp, also a third cup of sugar, one half teaspoonful of vanilla and a cup of milk and bake all the ingredients in a buttered mold. Make a meringue of the whites of the eggs and four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Spread over the custard and return to the oven to color the meringue. This custard is improved by a sprinkling of chopped candied cherries placed below the meringue.

For the Soil Case
How to save space in packing a traveling bag or suit case is a matter of real importance, and necessities which can be carried in condensed size are being put forth constantly. The latest items are three tiny boxes of talcum powder of three different odors, to be had in a small box for 10 cents for the three. One is sufficient for a trip of ordinary length. Another such item is a small sized bottle of good toilet water, which comes in any of several odors for 25 cents a bottle. Women who have tried to pack a bulky bottle will appreciate this, for it is the regular seventy-five cent quality.

DAMAGES OF $25,000

Awarded Woman Who Was Injured

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 31.—Miss Flora Gibbons was awarded $25,000 damages in an accident case yesterday by a jury in the superior court. It is the largest judgment ever given in this state for personal injuries. The Rhode Island company, operating the trolley system, is the defendant.

Miss Gibbons brought suit for $75,000. She is a resident of Smithfield and is 26 years old. She claimed that on Aug. 12, 1910, while riding in a wagon on Main street, Pawtucket, a car, driven at an excessive rate of speed, struck the wagon. She was thrown out and at first it was not thought that she was seriously injured. An ailment developed, however, of which physicians claim she will never be cured. Her nervous system has become so disordered, it is claimed, she will always be subject to a twitching of her body when in certain positions, such as sitting or lying down.

the English yachtsmen to send another challenge for the America's cup, have contributed toward arousing interest in an Anglo-American contest for a smaller type of boat. It is planned to send three American boats to British waters for a series of three or five contests under the international yacht racing rules. The yachts will be of about eight metres racing length or corresponding to the American 31 footers.

Some of the Leading Harvard and Princeton Football Players Who Will Clash Saturday

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—The old rivals, topnotchers of the gridiron, Princeton and Harvard, will meet in the stadium here Nov. 2 for their first clash on Harvard soil since 1883. Both elevens are in fine condition and a hard fought battle is anticipated. Harvard and Princeton in their early games had developed a scoring attack with great possibilities, a defense which had not been penetrated to any great extent and individual stars who had been more than living up to expectations. Harvard recently played Brown to a standstill in a game which was characterized by a great many misplays on the part of the Brown team and by the aggressiveness of the Harvard eleven in taking advantage of these weaknesses in Brown's play. Harvard was more powerful than Brown, both not but elevate the Tiger stock. The in the back field and the rush line versatility of the Tiger backs was in Princeton's defeat of Dartmouth can evidence from start to finish, but the

Princeton defense did not prove itself irresistible. Harvard's defense has been more consistent. This should give the Crimson eleven a slight advantage, but a dependable one. It cannot be claimed that the Princeton line is irresistible. Dartmouth was able to gain substantially through it, and the Granite State boys are not the first eleven to accomplish the feat since the season opened. The probable lineup of the elevens is as follows:

WERE SENTENCED TO JAIL

Women Wore Hatpins That Were Too Long

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 31.—For wearing hatpins that protruded too far, 60 women, most of them prominent, were tried, convicted and fined yesterday in a Sydney court. They went to jail rather than pay their fines, declaring they would not submit to iniquitous and unnecessary legislation.

The city authorities face a situation similar to that growing out of the suffrage demonstration in England, as the women assert that if further arrests and imprisonment are ordered because of the hatpin ordinance they will declare a "hunger strike" in jail.

Wagon Struck by Train

LENN, Oct. 31.—As a train on the Boston & Maine railroad, in charge of Conductor Shapleigh and Engineer Leavitt, was going over the Blossom street crossing, bound from Boston, at 5:14 last evening, the locomotive struck a wagon belonging to W. C. Whittridge & Co., driven by Mark Davis, who lives at 10 Stewart street.

Davis was thrown a considerable distance and sustained two fractures wrists and a bad shaking up. The wagon was wrecked but the horse escaped injury. Davis was carried to the hospital.

BOUT CALLED A DRAW

Robideau and Gallant in Fierce Bout

FALL RIVER, Oct. 31.—Gilbert Gallant of Boston had to exercise all his ring generalship last night to save himself from losing the verdict in his 12-round bout with Sam Robideau. The fight was easily the best ever staged by the Colonial club, and when the bell rang after 36 minutes of the toughest mulling possible, Referee Martin Canale called it a draw.

It was Robideau's ability to come back in the ninth round that turned the tide, and it was his terrible right hand smash to Gallant's jaw that brought about an even decision.

The sailor was strong as a bull and shook off Gallant's jab until the latter became fairly desperate. In the 10th, Robideau rushed from his corner, and taking Gallant unawares, swung his right to the jaw and Gallant was lifted fairly off his feet.

In the 12th Robideau smashed his right to Gallant's face twice but the latter came back and forced the sailor into his own corner. Both men were groggy and "all in" in the last two minutes, and when the bell sounded neither was able to land a good blow.

Young Ketchel of Pawtucket won from Young K. O. Brown of this city in eight rounds, and Young Letender of this city won from Frankie Buras in four rounds.

$25,000 to Jeannette

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—With a view to deciding on a successor to Jack Johnson's title of heavyweight champion of the world, W. C. J. Kelly, representing Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, signed a contract with Dan McKetrick, manager of Joe Jeannette, here yesterday.

The contract calls for the appearance of Jeannette in five contests in Australia, the first of which will be with Sam Langford and the second with Sam McVea both of whom are now in Australia. McIntosh agrees to give Jeannette $25,000, with the privilege of 25 per cent. of the gate, with five round-trip tickets for himself, manager and sparring partners. They are to sail from San Francisco the latter part of November.

In addition to these stipulations, McIntosh will donate a gold belt emblematic of the world's heavyweight championship.

"The Meistersingers"

It was the first in a series of entertainments of the Star course for 1912-1913, by the I. M. C. A. "The Meistersingers" comprise the Harvard, Schubert and Weber quartets. The contributors to last night's program were: Jewett Boyd, Harold S. Tripp, Allan W. Prescott, first tenors; Arthur P. Cole, Charles W. Swaine, Lester

Sam Felton, Harvard's Star End, One of the Season's Best Punters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 31.—Football experts here claim Sam Felton, Harvard's star end, is the best punter of the season. Felton's kicks average from 60 to 70 yards. His playing at end has been brilliant, too, and should show up well in the game with Yale he must be considered an All-American possibility for the position.

CHELMSFORD

The members of the Chelmsford fire department were summoned yesterday noon by the ringing of the Unitarian church bell to a fire in a haystack on the Billerica road, near the home of George Stuart. The church bell is supposed to be rung only when a house is on fire, but owing to the fact that the blaze was so close to several dwellings the alarm was pulled in. All members of the department, as well as many citizens, responded, and they worked untiringly to save the house, which they did after a difficult task.

This afternoon will be the last of the half-holidays enjoyed for several months by the town business places. Tomorrow being All Saints' day, there will be services in All Saints' church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The Educational club of Lowell, of which Mrs. H. L. Fletcher of Billerica street is a member, spent a delightful afternoon at the old Tyng place in Tyngsboro yesterday. Opportunity to inspect the house, even to the slave quarters in the attic, was graciously granted by Mrs. Mottbrook, whose home it is now. On the return, the party was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. F. E. Varney, who is also a member, at her home in North Chelmsford.

TO RESTORE POPULAR RULE

The Sun would make a special appeal to the voters of Lowell in behalf of the democratic ticket which should be supported from top to bottom. Never before perhaps has the line of demarcation been so clearly drawn between the political parties. The republican party has practically been smashed to pieces on account of its alliance with the trusts and combines that have extorted not millions but many billions of dollars unjustly from working people of this country.

Under the reforms proposed now by the democratic party the trust domination will be overcome.

The people of this country have supposed that they were ruling themselves, when, as a matter of fact, they were being ruled by the trusts and the interests that control the congress of the United States.

Why do the trusts control congress? How did they secure this control?

Simply by sending their representatives to congress, by sending manufacturers to look out for the interests of manufacturers, or by sending corporation attorneys to represent them.

The question comes whether the people of this district want to prolong that system of government by the predatory interests.

Do they want to continue the rule of special privilege for the few, and wage slavery for the masses of the people?

The trusts have the power to raise prices and reduce wages. They have been going on both ends, and the people are the sufferers.

It is true that there is widespread discontent throughout the country, and for the very best reasons, because the purchasing power of the dollar has been reduced to less than half what it was in 1896. It is all nonsense and it is an imposition upon the public, to state that the cost of living is as high in England as it is here. American beef and other commodities are sent from this country to England and sold there at from 10 to 25 per cent. less than the price to the American consumer.

This shows how the American people have been swindled by such combines as the beef trust, and this is only a type of the other trusts that have been swindling the people along different lines.

The high cost of living cannot be reduced except by reducing the tariff so as to cripple the power of the trusts without seriously injuring the business of the country. The purchasing power of the dollar must be increased and this will come about as a result of reasonable competition which is impossible under present conditions.

It is to the interest, therefore, of every wage earner in Massachusetts to stand loyally by the democratic ticket in state and nation. We want to see a democratic legislature in Massachusetts, and we expect also to see Governor Foss re-elected with Hon. David I. Walsh for lieutenant-governor. All over the country the conviction prevails that Wilson and Marshall will be elected by an overwhelming majority. In this sweeping victory it would indeed be a serious misfortune if the fifth district failed to elect a democratic congressman.

Should Humphrey O'Sullivan be elected to congress, we have no doubt, whatever, that he would accomplish more for the people of the district than any man who served in congress since General Butler. We would, therefore, advise the democrats of Lowell and the fifth district to vote solidly for the old democratic party, the only party to which the people of this country can turn at the present time for relief from the burdens of trust domination imposed by the republican party. Vote for every democratic candidate for representative and senator in your district for we need a state legislature that will send to Washington a man who will stand against the domination of the money power and the trusts to the end that the rule of the people may be restored and justice dealt out to all men.

DIED FOR THE CHILDREN

The death of the mother superior, Mary of the Cross, was the sequel to a demonstration of remarkable courage. She returned to the burning dormitory when she heard the cry of a child who had been overlooked in the hurry and excitement. A few moments later she appeared at a window in the front of the building with the babe in her arms. A ladder was placed against the unsteady walls and Fire Chief Wright scaled it, but before he reached her, the mother superior, with the child, fell back into the flames, where both perished.—News Despatch.

The above dispatch records but one of many heroic incidents at the terrible fire in an orphanage at San Antonio, Texas, yesterday, in which six nuns perished with but one other child than that mentioned above out of a total of 37 children. The mother superior had reached a place of safety when she heard that cry from the burning building. She knew that there was little hope of returning, but she preferred to die rather than leave the child behind and she died the death of a true and noble Christian heroine.

The other five sisters sacrificed their lives as truly for the children, although perhaps not so deliberately, while one after another sent her children to safety had to jump from a window only to be fatally injured in the fall. These noble women in charge of children consider only the safety of their wards. It is to be noted that the mother superior remained to the last, feeling that responsibility rested upon her shoulders and she willingly became a martyr to duty. It is too bad that an institution of the kind should not be provided with better fire protection so that it would not be necessary for these noble women to sacrifice their lives to save the little ones. That mother superior deserves a monument to perpetuate her devotion but she did only what any of the nuns would do under like circumstances and it is against their principles to seek earthly honors or rewards.

LUCE AND WALSH

The voters of Lowell, especially the working men, may remember that Lieutenant-Governor Luce when acting in the absence of Governor Foss, refused to grant a hearing to a delegation of the Boston Elevated strikers at the state house. As District Attorney Pelletier afterwards showed that the strikers were unjustly treated, the action of the lieutenant-governor appears to have been harsh and arbitrary. When a delegation of malcontents marched upon the state house in 1891 Governor Greenhalge did not deny them a hearing. On the contrary he went out and made a speech advising them to obey the law and promising that he would do what he could to relieve their distress. Governor Greenhalge won the approbation of the crowd and of the people throughout the state, but had been acted as arbitrarily as did Mr. Luce, his course would have precipitated a riot.

Things of this kind indicate the sympathy of the man and they serve to help the voters to select the right men on election day. Hon. David I. Walsh, the democratic candidate, in his speech at Associate hall the other evening said if he were elected lieutenant-governor, no delegation of strikers would be refused a hearing at the capital. But this is but one of the many reasons why Mr. Walsh should be supported. He is a very able man and his election will give the state an official whose brilliancy will be a credit to the commonwealth.

TO OVERTHROW SPECIAL PRIVILEGE

The aim of the democracy in this election is to overcome the power of special privilege, to elect men who are not tied up with specially favored interests, men who are willing and free to serve the people. That is the main question involved in the principal contests before the people in the coming election; it is the chief question involved in the local congressional fight as between Mr. O'Sullivan and Mr. Rogers. The chief objection to the latter, apart from his being a republican, is, that being closely identified with the highly protected interests, he could not be expected to oppose those interests in congress, while Mr. O'Sullivan, having disposed of his business, is free to serve the people without restraint, restriction or reserve.

Governor Wilson has not written to the committee in charge of his campaign directing that Mr. McCormack's contribution of $12,500 be returned, but he has actually ordered it returned through a bank. He cannot afford to hold a dollar bearing the taint of the Harvester trust.

Seen and Heard

A banker in central Kentucky was in the habit of wearing his hat a good deal in business hours, as in summer the flies used his bald pate for a parade ground, and in winter the cold breezes swept over its polished surface. A negro workman on the railroad each week presented a check and drew his wages, and one day as he put his money in a greasy wallet the banker said: "Look here, Mose, why don't you let some of that money stay in the bank and keep an account with us?" The darky leaned toward him and, with a quizzical look at the derby the banker wore, answered confidentially: "Boss, I've afeared. You look like you was always ready to start some-where."

HAVING FAITH

Some of your hurts you have cured, And the sharpest you still have survived; But what torment of grief you endured From evils which never arrived.

Let tomorrow take care of tomorrow, Leave the things of the future alone; What's the use to anticipate sorrow? Life's troubles come ever too soon.

Have faith and thy faith shall sustain thee, Permit not suspicion or care, With invisible bonds to enchain thee, But bear what God gives thee to bear.

By his spirit supported and gladdened, Be ne'er by forebodings deterred, But think how oft hearts have been saddened By fear of what never occurred.

Let tomorrow take care of tomorrow, Short and dark as our life may appear, We may make it still darker by sorrow, Still shorter by folly and fear.

Half our troubles are half our inventions, And how often from blessings conferred Have we shrunk in the wild apprehension Of evils that never occurred?

Why forecast the trials of life With such sad and grave persistence, And look and reach for a crowd of ills That as yet have no existence?

Strength for today is all that we need, For we never will see tomorrow; When it comes the morrow will be today, With its measures of joy or sorrow.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

"Quite a number of well known men and worthy citizens have dropped out of the running within the last few months," writes a correspondent, "and I have in mind at the present time my old and esteemed friend, Charles E. Smart, whose funeral took place last Sunday afternoon from his home in Warwick street. He was a genial, kindly man, a fond father and a good friend. He was a man of sterling character. He had been in business in Lowell for a great many years and his word was as good as his bond. He was born in Sweden, Me., and came to Lowell in 1867. Shortly after coming to Lowell he was employed by John J. Donovan in Central street, and remained there until 1877 when he went into business for himself in Smith street. He was a successful business man and was respected and admired by all with whom he came in contact. I did not see the names of those who survived him mentioned in the papers. He is survived by his wife, Margaret; one daughter, Susan C., and two sons, John N., and Charles N. He is also survived by his mother, Susan C. Smart of Brighton, Me., and three sisters, Mrs. Samuel Wiley, Mrs. John H. Ames and Mrs. Percy J. Barker. Both of his sons hold lucrative and responsible positions with offices in Boston.

Of all "aptitudes" the mechanical is least likely to manifest itself in a feminine brain. The young woman who visited a locomotive works was doubtless interested in what she saw, but her account of the processes observed leaves the reader to doubt her entire understanding of them.

"You pour," she told a friend, "a lot of sand into a lot of boxes and you throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and then you turn the red-hot stream into a hole in the sand, and everybody yells and shouts."

When you pour it out, let it cool and pound it, and then you put in it a thing that burns holes in it. Then you screw it together and paint it and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly, and they take it to a drafting room and make a blueprint of it.

"But one thing I forgot—they have to make a boiler. One man gets inside and one gets outside, and they pound frightfully, and then they tie it to the other thing, and you ought to see it go!"

Strained His Back
Henry Popin, residing at 96 Ludlum street, slipped while alighting from a train at Calabate station shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and bruised and strained his back. He was placed on the train and when it arrived in Lowell the injured man was taken to St. John's hospital, where his injuries were attended to.

Arm Fractured
Tony Starasch of 113 Railroad street, a yard foreman for the Edward Cawley Coal company, slipped while descending a flight of stairs at his work yesterday afternoon shortly after four o'clock and broke his right forearm. He was taken to the emergency hospital where Dr. William C. McLean set his arm and bandaged up a deep cut on his nose. He was later taken to his home.

Tramp Assaults Woman
FOXBORO, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Sarah Jones of Summer street, East Foxboro, was assaulted by a tramp here yesterday afternoon. The woman, however, put up such an able defense, that her assailant fled. Chief of Police E. A. White and Constable Cady of Foxboro and Chief Kennedy of Mansfield have searched these towns and Chief White has sent a description of the tramp to all surrounding cities and towns. It is believed that the man was the one who terrorized Sharon Monday night by his attack upon the women of that town.

CAPT. YOUNG MURDERED

SURRY, Me., Oct. 31.—Capt. Harry C. Young, chairman of the republican town committee, whose body was found on the edge of a narrow stream in the village store, was the victim of a murder, in the opinion of County Attorney Herbert L. Graham. After a day of investigation, County Attorney Graham said last night that there was no doubt in his mind that Capt. Young was murdered for his money.

Captain Young, as a retired sea captain, 58 years old, was the proprietor of the village store. He left his store early Monday night for home, taking the day's cash with him. The money was missing when the body was found yesterday, but Captain Young's watch was in a vest pocket.

In connection with the death the police court today. This is expected to follow the inquest into Captain Young's death. Coroner D. L. Fields summoned a jury yesterday afternoon.

The autopsy by Medical Examiner Elmer J. Morrison yesterday afternoon showed that Captain Young's death was due to a fracture of the skull; the man was dead before he fell into the stream.

He has not been arrested, but the police say he will probably be given a preliminary hearing in the Ellsworth police court today.

A short piece of iron pipe picked up nearby is being kept by the police as the possible weapon.
